Springtime and Easter bring thoughts of budding trees, new lambs, warmer weather and flowers. And the hundreds of pot mums in Lefever's greenhouse on Jarvis Road in Lancaster County add to the color of the season. Of course, for Mel Lefever this is a most busy time of the year. But for others, the beauty of the season is to be enjoyed.

In this Easter season, joyous best wishes are extended from the Lancaster Farming staff to all of our readers. Photo by Everett Newswanger.

Berks ASCS/BCCD Applauds Conservation Efforts

VAL VANTASSEL
Berks Co. Correspondent
CHARTLESVILLE (Berks Co.) — More than 225 people gathered at the Berks Co. ASCS/Berks Co. Conservation District

banquet last Monday night to honor those who made outstanding conservation efforts.

Among the winners was Outstanding Conservation Farmer Stephen Burkholder of Rockland

Township. Burkholder, a swine and soybean farmer, has concentrated his efforts in soil conservation. He has installed terraces on his 48-acre farm and taken up conservation practices that have reduced his soil loss from 36 tons per acre to three tons per acre.

"I got a soil conservation plan four years ago and I have been following their recommendations," Burkholder said. Burkholder is the president of the Eastern Pork Producers and is also a member of the Berks Co. Farm/City Council, the Kutztown Young Farmers, and the Pennsylvania Corn Growers Association.

Last year's Conservation Farmer Paul Reidenhour was honored for his participation in the National Soil and Water Conservation Awards Program.

The Twin Valley FFA was honored as the Outstanding Conservation Organization of 1989. Since 1970, the FFA's under the direction of their advisor, Ron Frederick, have planted more than 200,000 tree seedlings on state game lands. Chapter members participate in conservation speaking contests, land judging, forestry, and wildlife contests. They have also sent "envirothon" teams to local and state contests.

Donald Lacy was named Outstanding Conservationist. Lacy, a member of the Berks Co. Federation of Sportsmen for many years, was honored for his efforts to make the youth conservation leadership camp a success. Lacy serves on the camp committee and is an associate director of the conservation district. He won second place in the Pride In Pennsylvania contest.

The conservation district created a new award this year to recognize Berks Co. boroughs that work

Farming Problems Are World Wide

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania farmers are not alone in facing tighter working restrictions and increasing environmental responsibilities and liabilities.

According to a foreign agriculturalist who spent this past week here, problems of nutrient management, increased livestock densities, controlling pesticides applications and more closely managing farming operations are world wide.

John L. Morgan, a land management advisor with the Agricultural Development Advisory Service in North Wales, visited with Pennsylvania officials with the mission to gain insight into how others deal with some of the negative effects of agriculture.

Morgan said his home country of Wales is currently beset with, among other things, nitrogen pollution in water resulting from intensified farming. He said his countrymen are looking to create a system in which agriculture and

Huntingdon Holstein Sale Changed

PETERSBURG (Huntingdon Co.) — The sale date and nature of the Huntingdon County Holstein Association sale has been changed.

John Foster Jr., sale chairman, told Lancaster Farming this week, that the previously announced silent auction to be held on April 21 has been changed to Saturday, April 28, at the Huntingdon Fair Grounds. Starting time is 11 a.m. Mark Glick, Reedsville, is the auctioneer.

Foster said the one-week-later date will give the county association the extra time needed to put together the high quality type sale that has been characteristic of the 55 to 60 head event each year.

In addition, since the catalogues are assembled at the local level, a few additional consignments could still be accepted. For consignment information or for information about the sale, write or call John Foster Jr., RD 1, Box 110, Globe Run Road, Petersburg, PA 16669. Phone: (814) 667-3567.

Northeast Chicken Parts

Wednesday, April 11, 1990

Trucklot buying interest was mixed and irregular. Seller offerings were generally adequate for prompt delivery; however, buyers found supplies tight and more difficult to book for later as several processors looked to curtail operations for the upcoming religious holiday. Inquiry for skinned boneless breasts was light to fair and supplies were fully adequate; spot trading was noted into next week at $1.90. Whole breasts were adequate to fully adequate and in heaviest balance on yellow; several buyers noted reduced further processing schedules Friday as providing little incentive to purchase extra product. Leg quarters tightened to a good demand for retail activity which reduced the availability on legs. Wings continued to clear well and ranged adequate to short.

Delmarva Broiler-Fryer Market

Wednesday, April 11, 1990

Movement of ready-to-cook whole fryers was no better than fair. Supplies of 2 1/2 pound sizes were in close balance to short of buyer needs, heavier sizes were at least adequate. Less than trucklot asking prices were steady at 55-64 cents. Live supplies were adequate, average live weights ranged desirable to heavy. Processors operated at moderate volume. The trade sentiment was steady to instances barely steady.

In the parts complex, supplies of wings and leg quarters were in close balance with a good call, cutlets and whole breasts ranged adequate to fully adequate, and legs were about adequate.

Frozen Eggs

April 10, 1990

Prices were lower under a barely steady to weak trade sentiment. Demand was very light and centered on less-than-trucklot volumes for immediate holiday bakery needs, particularly sugared yolk. Most processors planned reduced schedules with some plants closed for several days for holiday observances. Shell egg costs continue to drop, but most breakers limited purchases to immediate needs only.

OPINION

The Prophet's Easter Story

WHO hath believed our report? And to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed?

For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he hath no form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.

He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not.

Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.

But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.

All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth; he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he openeth not his mouth.

He was taken from prison and from judgment; and who shall declare his generation? For he was cut off out of the land of the living; for the transgression of my people was he stricken.

And he made his grave with the wicked, and with the rich in his death; because he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

Yet it pleased the Lord to bruise him; he hath put him to grief; when thou shalt make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see his seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

He shall see of the travail of his soul, and shall be satisfied; by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their iniquities.

Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he hath poured out his soul unto death; and he was numbered with the transgressors; and he bare the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors. Isaiah 53

To Understand Persistent Weed Problems

Just how persistent do we have to be in order to control weed problems? Well, the answer to this question comes from weed scientists who ran germination tests on weed seeds.

They report that 29% of Johnsongrass seed germinated after being buried for three years; morning glory 74% after five years; pigweed 66% after 40 years and dock 52% after being buried 50 years. They further reported that 51 of 107 species tested still had live seeds after 20 years.

The reason these seeds remain in the soil for such a long period without sprouting is apparently related to environmental conditions. According to weed experts, some seeds need just the right combination of moisture, temperature, and nutrients before they will germinate. This explains why we may suddenly be faced with a weed problem we thought was cured several years ago.

To Practice Strict Sanitation

Livestock and poultry producers must take a special effort to prevent contagious diseases. Many of these infections are brought home by the owner, or with the purchase of a new arrival. There are a number of infections that can be spread very easily from farm to farm.

In this part of the country, where the density of poultry and livestock is so great, producers should be alert to the possibility of spreading diseases. When returning from another farm or public place, different clothes and footwear should be used. Stray dogs, cats and wild birds should be controlled as much as possible. New purchases should be segregated and tested before mixing with the home herd or flock. In many cases vaccination should go along with very strict sanitation practices. Every producer should give attention to the prevention of disease through good management and the use of good sanitation practices.

To Stay Off Wet Ground

Don't let spring fever get the better of your good judgement. As you yearn to get into the fields and gardens, remember what you are trying to accomplish. You want seeds to germinate rapidly and seedlings to emerge quickly. The longer it takes for this to happen the greater the opportunity is for disease and insects to attack, weaken or destroy the seed and planting. Follow weather predictions closely and delay planting until soil moisture and temperature conditions are favorable for good germination, and until the risk of frost injury has passed. To prevent soil compaction and surface crusting, don't work soils when they are too wet.

To Prepare For Ryelage Harvest

Winter grains are growing rapidly and before we know it ryelage harvesting time will be upon us. When that time comes, you want to be ready to roll with the harvester because you have so few days in which to harvest the crop at the precise time for top quality feed. If you miss these few days due to inclement weather or poor timing, quality declines very rapidly! Line up your harvester now, get the silo ready and as the harvest date approaches, keep a close watch on the fields and be ready to roll at a moment's notice when the weather breaks.

THE RESURRECTED LIFE
April 15, 1990

Background Scripture:

John 20.

Devotional Reading:

1 Corinthians 15:12-26.

I've looked in vain for the source of this story, but I'll share it with you anyway. A man approached a learned professor and asked him what he would have to do to start another major religion. The professor paused and answered, "Well, for starters, I suggest you get yourself crucified and then resurrected on the third day."

Actually, that is how Christianity began, didn't it? Without Jesus' resurrection, there would be no Christianity. No matter how profound Jesus' teachings, no matter how inspiring his miracles nor how moving his sermons, that which gave birth to Christianity was the resurrected Jesus. At least, that was the start of it. It was the resurrection that pronounced God's final "Yes" in the face of humanity's terrible "No" on Calvary. Good Friday had convinced the disciples that it was all over, but Easter Sunday assured them that it was really just the beginning.

WHOM DO YOU SEEK?

It is interesting, is it not, that, according to John, the first person to see Jesus' open tomb was not only a woman, but a woman with a rather shady reputation. Wouldn't you think Jesus would have picked a less controversial woman than Mary Magdalene? Furthermore, it was this same woman, not one of the twelve apostles, who was the first to encounter the risen Lord: "Woman, why are you weeping? Whom do you seek?" Thinking he is the gardener, Mary asks: "Sir, if you have carried him away, tell me where you have laid him, and I will take him away." Then Jesus says to her, "Mary!" Not Simon Peter, not John, the beloved disciple, nor any other man of Jesus' band of disciples, but Mary Magdalene, the woman some people believe was a harlot before she began to follow Jesus.

It is what happened next that is at the heart of the Easter story: "Mary Magdalene went and said to the disciples: 'I have seen the Lord' (20:18). That's how it all began - one person experiences the resurrected Christ and passes it on, changing the history of the world forever. When Jesus subsequently appeared to a group of disciples on the evening of the first day of the week, they experience what Mary had experienced at the garden tomb. So when the absent Thomas returns, they tell him as Mary had told them: "We have seen the Lord" (20:25). Isn't that what Easter is all about? People who have experienced the resurrected Lord sharing the good news with others!

MORE THAN ESCAPE

But note that the resurrection was not just about Jesus' rescue from the tomb or the conviction that he had survived the experience of death. The resurrection goes considerably beyond the grave and essentially is about life, not death. It is both the power that breaks the bonds of death and the power that enervates us for the living of life here and on the other side of death. That's why the resurrection is the beginning, not the end of the story.

The glory of Easter is not just that one man conquered death, but that all of us are called to be conquerors of death as well. Of the events he has written in the fourth gospel, the writer of John says: "these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing you may have life" - resurrected life - "in his name."

ATTENTION GROWERS OF PENNSYLVANIA TYPE 41 TOBACCO

As we finish receiving the 1989 crop, Lancaster Leaf wishes to thank all the growers who sold their tobacco to them.

For the 1990 crop, we believe prices will remain strong because of a continuing demand for Type 41.

We will continue to make our purchases from the grower, on the farm, and hopefully be able to help growers by giving sound advice in growing and stripping practices.

We value your confidence in Lancaster Leaf and welcome doing business with every grower of Type 41. Our dedication to a better market and better prices is assurance to you of our faith in the future growing of Pennsylvania tobacco.

MAGNUM means more. More performance from 18-speed full powershift transmissions.

In MAGNUM tractors, more speed choices mean more performance and productivity. The full powershift transmissions give you 18 standard speeds, ranging from 1.8 to 19 mph, with seven in the 3 to 8 mph range, where you work most. And if that's not enough, you can add a powershift creeper transmission with six more speeds in the .5 to 2.1 mph range.

And powershifting is almost effortless. The in-line sequence is natural and simple. Speed changes are smooth, selections are precise. You can start in any gear, shift up, down or into reverse—all without clutching.

And what do farmers say about the powershift transmissions in MAGNUM tractors? Of several hundred who recently tested the tractors on their own farms, 85.7% rated the transmission better than their current tractor in ease of speed selection, smooth shifting and proper speeds for the job.

MAGNUM performance. Assured by advanced transmissions to match the most advanced tractors. More proof that MAGNUM means more! See us today for a demonstration on your farm.

Miss Taffy Tops Pa. Holstein Sale

JUDY PATTON
Centre Co. Correspondent
STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.)— In spite of snowy weather, a large crowd came to bid at the Pennsylvania Holstein Association's Showcase and Supreme Creations Sale at the Penn State Ag Arena last Saturday.

Auctioneers Bill Kent and Mike Weimer sold 45 cows for an average of $2,529; 34 bred heifers averaged $1,685, 56 calves averaged $1,932, and seven embryo choices averaged $3,543. The total sale was 142 head for an average of $2,141.

Miss Tato Royalty Taffy, a two-year-old Lekker Valiant Royalty daughter milking 106 pounds a day 116 days into her first lactation, topped the Showcase Sale at $10,000. Consigned by the Tato Syndicate (Mike Weimer, Nelson Gardner, Jay Howes, and Mexico Independent Inc.), Taffy was purchased by the Taffy Syndicate, represented by Lester Poust of Muncy.

Taffy is out of a VG-86 Long-Haven Mars Tony daughter with records to 22,857M 3.6% 818F 3.2% 739P. Her VG-86 Monitor grandam produced 44,055M 1576F.

High seller in the Supreme Creations Calf Sale was Russelldale Mark Royal-ET, an October 1989

Walkway Chief Mark daughter. Ray Bicksler, Richland, sold her to William and Carolyn Pettit of Vincetown, NY, for $7,200. The dam is a VG Rotate with PTA +1435M +74F +46P +$228CY. Both the Rotate dam and the Bell grandam have 4.0% fat tests and 3.3% protein or better.

Sold for $6,000, Howcrest Mark Shannon was the second highest showcase seller. This VG-87 Walkway Chief Mark is make a first record of 2-8 243D 18,249M 3.9% 703F 3.4% 615P Inc. Out of a VG-87 Elevation dam with 24,770M 891F 802P, she was consigned by John and Susan Howard of Willow Street and purchased by the Keystone Farms of Easton.

Second high calf seller was a November '89 Blackstar X Bell calf consigned by the Nittany Lion Syndicate (Mike Weimer, Ken Raney, and Bill Nichol). Andrew Stoltzfus, Morgantown, purchased Fidelity Black Star Lady-ET for $6,100.

Of the seven embryo choices offered, the highest sold was a Blackstar female due in October out of a VG-86 Mark from Londondale Farm in Punxsutawney. The dam made a two-year-old record of 365D 29,936M 3.6% 1068F 3.0% 910P. The buyer was Jerry Martin of Hilmar, CA, who paid $6,600.

The Pennsylvania Junior Holstein Association held its 10th annual calf raffle at the sale to raise money for its activities. Jim Garner, Millville, was the winner of the first prize, for which he chose to receive $1,000 cash instead of the calf. Lester Poust bought the calf, which was a March '89 Steady from Yules Pride Farm, Millville, for $1,900. Second prize, $250, went to Rob Hinton, Martinsburg. Ken Smith, Thomsontown, won the $100 third prize.

Horace Backus read the pedigrees for the sale, and the ringmen were Ray Anthony, Howard Hammond, Jeff Harding, Jay Howes, Steve Massey, and Bill Nichol. Ken Raney clerked the sale, and Brian Sharka was the barn crew superintendent.

Ag Lenders Learn To Better Serve

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff
BLUE BALL (Lancaster Co.)
— It's not just for bankers anymore.

In less than two weeks, agricultural lenders from around the state are to meet at State College for an ag seminar for bankers. But, according to officials, others are encouraged to attend.

Kenneth Overly, an assistant vice president for ag sales at Blue Ball National Bank in Blue Ball, Lancaster County, said the tone of the seminar is changed from the more technical banking aspects to a review of possible economic effects on agriculture by a number of about-to-happen events.

It's scheduled for all-day April 25 and 26 at Penn State University's J.O. Keller Conference Center.

According to Overly, attorneys and accountants and others who deal in some manner with agriculture should attend in order to learn the latest developments in sensitive issues and hear projected trends by officials and experts whose job it is to monitor and affect the issues.

Sponsored jointly by the Pennsylvania Bankers Association and Penn State University, about 20 annual seminars, normally more technical and reactive, have already been held.

And although the format has been opened up to a more diversified interest this year, Overly said it is especially important for those who deal financially with farmers to attend.

"Agriculture is in a radical change," Overly wrote in a letter he sent to fellow bankers. "It is now a business, not a way of life. Your farm client's top priorities existing today are excellent farm management and record keeping skills, an adequate cash flow to pay farm debt, and a profit to continue in business.

"Today there looms a (number of) major problems that your farm clients need to take seriously:

- "How do they manage their animal and chemical waste on the farm without polluting the water supply?

- "How do they handle and treat their farm animals?

- "What happens if the Department of Environmental Resources cites one of them for pollution of a stream or improper use of chemicals?

- "In the international trade arena, what impact can we expect on farm prices regarding the General Agreement of Tariff and Trade (GATT) negotiations with Eastern Europe, the Soviet Union and the Pacific Rim Nations?

"As an agricultural lender, it's evident these environmental and trade issue can affect the net worth and cash flow of your farm clients," Overly wrote. "This conference will give you vital information to help minimize their losses in this radically changing era."

Topics to be covered during the two-day seminar include economic impacts of bovine somatotropin (BST) in the dairy industry, a review of pending legislation and the possible direction and influences of political power both in Harrisburg and Washington D.C., possible economic impacts of animal rights activists, environmental concerns of the 1990s, and a review of ongoing negotiations of the GATT and possible results.

Last on the agenda is a series of predictions of what will most likely happen with the economy, dairy industry, and with the livestock and grain and poultry and egg production industries.

According to Overly, the role of the agriculture lender has taken on additional responsibilities in recent years.

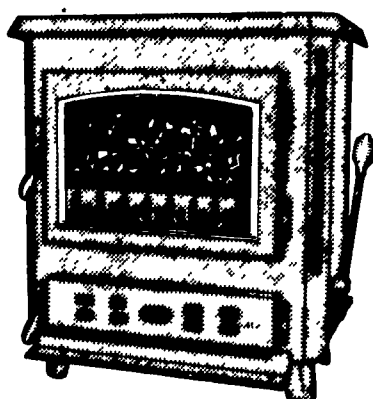

"These new issues and laws can really hurt cash flows, if you're not watching," he said.

Because of the significant loss of farmland in the last decade, the tenuous balance of supply and demand for ag products, and the desire to preserve farming, "We have to, as bankers, make our farmers aware of these issues," Overly said.

The total cost of the seminar is $90. For more information, or to attend, call (814) 865-7656.

WHEN YOU'RE VACCINATING YOUR HEIFERS AGAINST DISEASES, DON'T OVERLOOK TREATING ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT: PARASITISM.

Parasitism, one of the most common diseases in heifers, occurs when parasites are left uncontrolled. And like other uncontrolled diseases, parasitism can adversely affect your heifers' lifetime productivity: delay them from getting on the milk line, suppress their appetites and, in severe cases, inflict permanent physical damage to their digestive systems.

IVOME[®] (ivermectin) controls 31 kinds of adult and immature parasites. And only IVOME[®] can control both internal and external parasites at the same time. You'll find no other parasite product can offer the broad spectrum IVOME[®] provides.

But, if you wait to see signs of parasitism, it may be too late. By then serious damage may have already occurred. So don't wait until it's too late. Treat your heifers with IVOME[®] while vaccinating for other diseases. It's a convenient and easy way to prevent infectious diseases and help control parasitic disease at the same time.

Fishermen And Herd Health

JIM CLARK
Extension Dairy Agent
Cameron/McKean/Potter
Counties

Fishing season begins today at 8 a.m. and for many people it is a chance to get away from populated areas, kick back, and contemplate the meaning of life.

The Pennsylvania Fish Commission will even help you out with pre-season and in-season fish stocking location lists. So why do some farmers in my area shake their heads and mutter under their breath when this date is even mentioned?

A lot of the farmers I work with enjoy the sport of fishing and are more than happy to let people cross their property to find that perfect fishing hole.

It is the few landowners who have been abused by poor sportsmen, that have a bad taste for the fishing season. This attitude was caused by a few individuals who don't respect their environment or the landowner's rights.

Littering is the most thought of problem and is unsightly, especially to the landowner.

There are several problems

besides littering which can cause an economic loss to the landowner: driving on a field causes soil compaction, inhibiting plant growth; animals can develop Hardware Disease from ingesting discarded fishing tackle; animals could also be externally injured from fish hooks and, in the case of udders on dairy cow, it could ruin the animal's productive life.

The agency to call if you have problems with inconsiderate fishermen is the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. Each county has a Waterways Conservation Officer and you can contact him or her locally or through your Regional Fish Commission Office.

If you are a landowner who has had problems with inconsiderate people damaging your property it would be a good idea to get to know your local officer and work with him or her to prevent the problem.

The Fish Commission has free signs available to landowners such as, "Do Not Block Drive," to keep your farm access roads open.

"No Littering" signs could be posted in heavily used areas. The idea is to inform sportsmen of what is expected and most people will respect the landowners request.

If you don't want people driving on your property, use a "Fishing Permitted Walk In Only" sign.

Many Sportsmen Clubs have worked with the Fish Commission in an effort called the "Adopt A Stream Program." The club will work with the landowner to keep the area open to fishing and free from litter.

Many positive projects have been accomplished, including building walkways up and over livestock fences, keeping the fence intact and allowing fishermen to gain access to the stream.

This spirit of cooperation and working together seems to be the best answer in all cases.

As the 1990 fishing season begins, keep in mind that water can be a very dangerous natural resource. You could save someone's life some day by taking swimming lessons and, or, receiving training in CPR.

If everyone does their part we can make this the best fishing season ever. However, it could never beat the season I caught this huge . . .

Teat Dip Advisory

The National Mastitis Council technical advisory subcommittee on bulk teat dips has issued the following policy statement regarding the packaging and bulk handling of teat dips:

"Teat dips are considered a drug by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), and must be manufactured in accordance with Good Manufacturing Practices established by FDA. To insure product integrity, teat dips should be purchased in the manufacturer's original, unopened, labeled container directly from the manufacturer or an authorized distributor or agent. On-farm deliveries of teat dips from portable tanks into containers maintained at the farm are not recommended because contamination of the teat dip by any substance will interfere with product safety and efficacy".

The National Mastitis Council works to increase the quality of milk and dairy products through educational and research efforts aimed at udder health, milking management, and milk quality. For additional information, write the NMC, 1840 Wilson Boulevard, Suite 400, Arlington, Va., 22201; or call (703) 243-8268.

Holstein Breeders Honored At Banquet

Maryland Correspondent

NEW MIDWAY, Md. — Did you ever taste Yankee Pot Pie? It is made of beef gravy and soda crackers, a specialty the Frederick County Holstein Association enjoyed at their annual banquet and awards dinner at the New Midway Fire Hall.

One hundred seventy-six members and guests met to honor those who achieved outstanding performances during the past year.

Jack Remsberg, master of ceremonies, shared with the audience some of his experiences photographing cattle during the past 34 years. His most rewarding times were working with the many youth, and photographing 25 continuous years at the Maryland State Fair and at the Eastern National in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Remsberg's longest day was at the Pennsylvania All-American when he photographed 45 animals, which included seven different groups.

Remsberg has worked the eastern sector of United States, traveling many miles. His longest trip was 1,100 miles to Charleston, South Carolina, where he photographed 35 cows. Not surprising, his coldest day was for Glenn Freese, when Remsberg worked in a wind chill of -45 degrees.

The longest time it took to get that "just-right" pose was a two-year period working with Whirl-hill Kingpin, working three hours a day on three different occasions. Remsberg has been kicked numerous times and nearly gored by a bull, but because of his love for high quality photographs, he has continued to be successful.

Robert Bassler, project engineer for the new dairy barns at the University of Maryland, was the guest speaker for the evening. He explained the operation of the new robotic milking machine that will be coming from the Netherlands to the Maryland Agriculture Experimental Station.

Frederick County has an aggressive youth program. Stacey Guyton reported the years activities and participations. Awards were given to David Lenhart and Vivian Stottlemeyer for outstanding boy and girl. A check in the amount of $2,468.78, proceeds from dance and fun night, was presented to Lee Majeskie by Remsberg for the Dairy Judging Team's trip to Europe.

John Allen and the William Allen Family gave a donation of $2,000 to the team which was the proceeds of the calf consigned to the Maryland State Sale and contributions from family members.

residential and industrial communities can exist in harmony.

Now on his way to Wisconsin, where he will spend a week before going to the Quebec and Ontario areas of Canada, Morgan is a traveling scholar on a 10-week program designed to enhance the background knowledge of United Kingdom agriculturalists.

The tall Welshman earned the Nuffield Farming Scholarship and with it the Trehane Trust Award for proposing to seek alternative solutions to his country's problem.

The objective of the study is close to objectives of many Pennsylvanians.

According to a folding card that bears Morgan's title, photo and a brief sketch of the scholarship objective:

"Of particular interest are the systems of handling, treatment and storage of slurry from dairy cows in (other) countries. It is hoped to study the handling and disposal of dirty water from yards and milking (sic) parlours as well as the disposal of silage effluent. During the project it is hoped to visit commercial farms, experimental (sic) centres, advisory services, equipment manufacturers and pollution control agencies. The opportunity will be taken to look at different systems of cow housing and the utilization of farm waste on large and small dairy units. The whole tour will concentrate on studying the above subjects with a view to increasing knowledge of all aspects of animal waste handling particularly in view of increasing public concern for environmental matters."

Morgan has already traveled to Holland, West Germany, Denmark and Cornell University.

He said he saw a variety of means for handling nutrients and pesticides.

Wales' agriculture, by Morgan's description, is basically of two types: in the valley bottoms are family-owned, 100- to 120-acre dairy farms with 50 to 150 milking cows; and on the meadowed slopes are beef cattle and sheep operations on 200 or more acres.

"Part of our problem is the high rainfall," Morgan said. He said they average from 40- to 50-inches annually.

The problem with the rainfall is the way livestock forage is made and stored and the way nutrients from manure and forage are dissolved in rainwater and carried off into streams, he said.

"Grass silage" is cut into fine particulate with almost no wilting time and predominately stored in unroofed cement silos. Drainage from the silos, and chopped waste in the fields is carried into streams, he said.

Morgan said that up until recently the run-off presented a pollution problem for potable surface water supplies.

Recently, the publicly-held water authorities went into privatization as water companies.

In the past, with public water authorities providing services, enforcement of regulations by other governmental authorities was not aggressive. However, with the advent of privatization, the government enforcement has taken on more power and authority and can be more aggressive in protecting water supplies, he said.

His job, he said, is to act as arbitrator between farmers and water company officials to find mutually acceptable and workable solutions when pollution problems arise.

He said there are two ways in which he can be called into a situation: "by a farmer when he wants to look at a system for improvement; when there's a pollution problem in one of the streams."

Legal battles over such issues are not uncommon in the United States. However, Morgan said his experience has been a very amiable meeting between the two parties.

Morgan said the apparent long-term solution for North Wales is to change people's perception of manure and other farming by-products that contain nutrients.

"We need to appreciate its value," Morgan said.

There are other things of a more immediate nature that North Wales needs to do, he said.

"We need to store our slurry. We need to store it and realize the value to use to the best advantage, to use it in the spring and growing season when plants can use it," Morgan said.

But he said things are starting to change. He predicted that "In the next few months," four months storage of manure would be required. Currently N. Wales issues no mandate for storage capacities or application schedules.

Holland, Denmark and Germany all balance the amount of livestock density to the amount of manure produced.

He said one of the ways that N. Wales is attempting to make changes is through such government programs in which farmers are given about a 50-percent subsidy in trade for storing and treatment of nutrient waste.

"However, the money will last this year and next. I don't know where the money will come from after that," he said.

Morgan toured several farms with Paul Craig, Dauphin County extension agent, and Kenn Connelly, a nutrient management specialist with the Dauphin County Conservation District.

During the touring, Craig and Connelly attempted to provide Moran with a wide, yet intensive look at what the agricultural current affairs are for the state.

The two took Morgan to meet state Rep. John Barley, Lancaster, in his Harrisburg office.

Barley last year introduced legislation to manage nutrients in Pennsylvania. The proposed legislation sits now in the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee, and probably won't see action until after the gubernatorial election, Barley said.

Barley explained the current situation in the state, especially in his constituent area, where livestock densities have significantly increased while land for dispensing manure has diminished.

At the same time, excessive nutrients have been found to have contaminated many fresh water supplies and jeopardized potable drinking supplies and injured productivity of fisheries and related businesses.

Barley was quick to point out that although farming contributes to an excessive nutrient problem, it is not, by far, the largest contributor. He said that farmers only represent about two percent of the population and land area is relatively limited with an estimate 54,000 farms.

The legislation Barley proposes would require everyone who owns more than 10 acres of land and intends to fertilize it, to be certified applicators and also to file and maintain a "nutrient management plan."

Barley told Morgan that there is not so much known about the effects of nutrients derived from single home septic systems, lawn care applications and from parks and golf courses, but he is promoting research in those areas.

Additionally, Barley said that while some farmers are not practicing good nutrient management, his legislation would not affect

Editor,

As President of the Lancaster County Vocational Agriculture Teacher Association I am writing in regard to the letters to the editor over the last two weeks concerning the cuts to the FFA proposed by Governor Casey.

I wholeheartedly agree with Rep. Barley that Governor Casey needs to do more than lip service for the agriculture industry in PA. It was very interesting to see Governor Casey's picture in the Lancaster Farming as he visited Lancaster for the day. Does Governor Casey realize by cutting the funds to the FFA he is eliminating opportunities to thousands of FFA and agriculture students across the state? Here in Lancaster County alone we have over 500 FFA members involved in high school agriculture education.

I had my students write a letter to the Governor and other politicians in Harrisburg as a classroom activity. I was touched by how upset our students were in writing these letters. They were concerned about not only their future but the future of agriculture. They could not understand how the Governor of a state whose major industry is agriculture, could cut funding to agriculture so drastically. Even though they are not of voting age I am sure they are bringing home the message Governor Casey has sent out about his commitment to agriculture to their parents.

The agriculture teachers of Lancaster County and PA are also concerned about our future as agriculture educators in this state. In reviewing Ron Fredrick's letter to the editor I was shocked to see how little support is given to agriculture education on the state level as compared to our neighboring states. We as teachers are being asked to not only teach but pick up the duties previously taken care of by state staff.

The FFA is not just a group of agriculture students. Its purpose is to prepare students for the vocation of agriculture. We strongly urge Governor Casey to take a close look at the foundation of the state of PA and provide funding to support agriculture.

Deb Seibert

High School
Agricultural Department

Editor:

I have read with interest during the past several weeks letters which you have received concerning Governor Casey's elimination of $33,000 from the 1990-91 budget to help fund the Pennsylvania FFA.

I have been an agricultural education teacher in the secondary school system in western Pennsylvania for the past 25 years. I have always been encouraged by the support that agricultural businesses, legislatures, and interested community-minded citizens have given to the support of our agricultural education curriculum and the FFA organization. I feel pride in being able to deliver educational information to the Commonwealth's #1 industry. Agriculture has always been vital to the Commonwealth's economy.

I am concerned about the gradual erosion that is taking place in the Commonwealth for our agricultural education funding in the secondary programs. The staff employed by the Vocational Education Department and the Pennsylvania Department of Education for Agricultural Education is declining rapidly. I am greatly concerned that in the next decade or two a large percentage of our people will be agricultural illiterate since each generation of young people is being removed from the rural farm setting which their ancestors had enjoyed. We must initiate a program so that more individuals will have full-time responsibilities in delivering agricultural education information at the state, regional, and local levels. Too many individuals are now employed in positions that do not have the understanding of the agricultural industry.

I have taught many young people who have acquired their leadership abilities through the activities of the FFA. These students receive hands-on experiences and have an opportunity to apply their training in competitive events through the FFA. The $33,000 and much more should be reinstated in the Governor's budget immediately! This money is wisely used as students participate in local, regional, state, and national contests.

As a secondary school teacher, I can see a bright future for our young people who are seeking new innovative careers. The agricultural industry supplies numerous opportunities for these new careers. Young people need to have the opportunity to be informed about these new opportunities which will allow the agricultural industry in Pennsylvania to get even better. I am an educator who is interested in making that commitment to the young people of our Commonwealth by giving them the information needed to make wise decisions and the right choices in preparing for their life's career. Is our Governor and the Pennsylvania Department of Education willing to make the necessary decisions by expanding the agricultural education programs in our secondary schools by providing increased funding and additional full-time state staff personnel?

Editor:

In regard to the open letter to the Governor, one can hardly blame the Governor for trying to save money except this cut, when examined, closely is ounce sound and pound foolish. The taxpayer is getting more for his money in this expenditure than many other budget items. It is hard to imagine the impact of just what the FFA Foundation does for young folks of the rural communities of the Commonwealth.

What else is new? In 1941 the school board in the school where my father taught Vo-Ag said agriculture is no longer important in the community so why not drop the department from the curriculum. That very day the announcement was made a Mr. Martin and Mr. Fetterolf from the State Department came to our home to help correct this mistake. With their help the department stayed open. There has been a lot of water over the dam since then, but it is my opinion the time to stand up and be counted is NOW. People from many walks of life are led to believe this is the trend so why fight it.

Having taught Vo-Ag for over 30 years, we have been told to get industry involved in the educational process. We, as a group of teachers, have worked hard at doing just this.

It is my wish to get Governor Casey to do the same with the various departments in the Pennsylvania government. I realize each department has its own personnel and each department has their specific little task to accomplish. Just think what might happen IF we could get the Departments of Education, Agriculture, Environmental Resources, Game Commission, and Fish Commission, and perhaps others, to all work for a common cause. A more aware public on agriculture literacy would be the result. Every child in public education on this great commonwealth would benefit from this move.

This idea is being used with much success in the State of Minnesota. Agriculture in the classroom in that state publishes a small paper entitled "Minnesota Agriculture Magazine" along with a teacher's guide four times a year to be distributed to the middle grades or junior high schools. It is my understanding this effort is supported by various industries which have interests in agriculture. WHY can't we get a Pennsylvania Agriculture Magazine? With a little help from the farming community, I am convinced the time is now RIGHT!

It surprised me to see a Cooperative Extension Agent from Delaware State College highly recommend Eastern Dogwood (Cornus Florida) in your issue of 4-7-90.

All around us we see so many of these trees diseased or dying and there are so many desirable alternatives.

Kousa dogwood is similar to the Eastern Dogwoods she recommends, it blooms in profusion for a longer period and has been shown to be immune or resistant to fungus, borers and wilt. It is more drought-tolerant and its flower buds more cold-hardy than Eastern Dogwood. It has attractive exfoliating bark, berries in fall and distinctive winter silhouette.

Among the smaller dogwoods, there is red-twig and yellow-twig dogwoods whose colorful branches brighten up the winter scene, especially when planted in front of dark evergreens.

I would caution against following her instructions not to remove the burlap when planting a tree as many are covered with a type of burlap which does not rot.

those who currently are do so. Those who currently don't use their manure to their own benefit, will be the ones who will be forced to comply.

He said it would moreover take into consideration the largely ignored and unmonitored flow of nutrients emanating from household sewage systems and lawn care businesses.

Barley also told Morgan of how small municipal governments have been passing ordinances in an attempt to control nutrient flows. He said that because of the nature of the farming, with many farms falling under the jurisdiction of more than one local governments, the effects of such a hodge podge system can not be allowed to proliferate. Thus his proposed legislation would supercede all local ordinance.

From the capitol, Morgan traveled to the Jersey cattle dairy operation of Tom Williams, south of Harrisburg.

At the Williams farm, Morgan explained about the problem with preparing forage and the use of contractors who are hired hay cutters. Morgan said that the commercial hay cutters don't allow any field drying time for the crop and immediately cut it, chop it and bring it in from the field, dripping with moisture.

He said this is done so that the commercial cutters can not waste time waiting around on one job, but can try to get as many cutting jobs done as possible in a relatively short time.

He said contract cutting is one of the top alternatives to dwindling opportunities to farm.

Williams has been with the Chesapeake Bay program for some time and has recently taken up rotational grazing in fields with an alfalfa crop.

Portions of fields are divided into stip sections with each of those divided further into seven parts. Each of the smallest units contains enough forage for one day's feeding of his herd. The next day, the herd feeds from an adjacent parcel.

Williams said he feels he is getting higher milk production using the system because, with the cows eating fresh plants every day and the fact that they eat the most preferable parts first, they are eating the highest quality he can give to them. Furthermore, stem damage to the plant is reduced and grow back is quicker.

Morgan also got his first look at newspaper bedding, which Williams started doing on his own some time ago, perhaps the first in the state.

Everyday your cows show up for breakfast, lunch and dinner, as well as a few between meal snacks. If forage and/or silage is a major portion of your cows' diet, you need to concentrate on not just making good silage, but making SUPERIOR silage.

Making "superior" silage involves selecting the desired variety of crop, harvesting at the correct stage of maturity and storing the crop to get the desired kind of fermentation.

SILO GUARD II can help you achieve your goal of making SUPERIOR silage—to achieve a stable silage with a minimum loss of energy (heat), minimum destruction of crude protein and a desirable production of fermentation acids.

To learn how SILO GUARD II can help you make SUPERIOR silage and forage this year, contact your local SILO GUARD II dealer or write us for a copy of our free brochure—"MAKING SUPERIOR SILAGE".

NUTRI-SIL by Fertrell is a probiotic forage inoculant which contains selected live micro-organisms. When exposed to the warmth and moisture of your silage, NUTRI-SIL's viable bacteria become active and begin the fermentation process in a fast and controlled manner.

Typically, losses to molds, overheating, gases discharged to the atmosphere and liquid runoff total one out of every four or five tons of silage. University tests prove that NUTRI-SIL forage inoculant preserves 90% of the potential feed energy in silage. Using NUTRI-SIL will also improve palatability and digestibility, reduce runoff and improve overall feed efficiency.

New Milk Product Developed

WALLINGTON, NJ — Skim milk that doesn't taste like skim milk? Whole milk taste but low in cholesterol, with fewer calories and more nutrition? Fortunately, those who love whole milk -- but not the fat and calories -- will soon have that choice.

Farmland Dairies made groundbreaking news with the announcement of a new type of milk: Skim Plus -- a non-fat and practically cholesterol-free skim milk that actually tastes like whole milk. Containing 24% more protein and 12% more calcium than whole milk, Skim Plus is also more nutritious. The addition of natural milk solids gives Skim Plus its protein boost plus a richer taste, according to Marc Goldman, president of Farmland Dairies.

"A lot of people have said to me, 'What can you do about skim milk? It's what I have to drink, but I don't like the taste.' That's why I developed Skim Plus," Mr. Goldman said.

Skim Plus' packaging looks just as fresh as the new milk, too: cartons will be printed in bright purple and pink colors. Consumers can expect Skim Plus to be on store shelves this week. Farmland milk is currently available throughout the New York Metropolitan area. Stores distributing Farmland Milk include Grand Union, King's, Waldbaum's, select New Jersey Foodtowns and select Met Foods stores.

Farmland Dairies in Wallington, NJ, is the largest family owned and operated dairy in New Jersey. For over 70 years, three generations of the Goldman family have personally stood behind Farmland's reputation for quality, purity and freshness. Marc Goldman, Farmland's owner and president, was responsible for breaking the New York milk cartel in 1987, thus lowering consumer prices. He is regarded as an industry leader by milk producers, processors and consumers alike.

Editor:

I am writing to support Ron Frederick's open letter to the Governor which was printed in your paper several weeks ago. In addition, I would like to express my own concerns over Governor Casey's elimination of funding for the Pennsylvania FFA in his 1990-91 budget proposal and to protest the absence of any full-time staffing in agriculture education in the Pennsylvania Department of Education. This is a dismal reflection on the importance that our Governor places on the number one industry in Pennsylvania - Agriculture! I have been an agriculture teacher for 18 years and it appears to me that the political trend is to put less emphasis on agriculture and agriculture education each year. Is that the way to support the state's largest employer?

FFA is an integral part of the agriculture education program. FFA and agriculture education has been at the forefront of combining technical knowledge with "hands on" experience to the application of those skills inside and outside the classroom setting. Throughout this country, educators are calling for more of the "basics" which we have been doing in over 200 agriculture education departments throughout Pennsylvania for the last 50 years. If we are already meeting these challenges which everyone agrees that is needed, why then does the Governor wish to eliminate the funding which helps to make this happen? Perhaps the Governor is like many other well fed Americans who believe that Agriculture is just "plows and cows". It is about time that Americans and Pennsylvanians in particular realize that the agriculture education departments are the future of this extremely important industry which keeps our other industries strong.

The political and financial support of the agriculture education and FFA programs should be a bipartisan issue with the leadership coming from individuals and businesses in the agriculture communities. Many surveys today indicate that the general Pennsylvanian is agriculturally illiterate.

Because of this we should not be cutting monies from the budget, but asking how much more do we need to correct the situation!

I strongly urge you to address these concerns through your paper in order to reinstate this line item and support the broad area of agriculture education. The part-time position in the Department of Education is not enough to adequately service the Agriculture Education departments.

In closing, let me remind you of the words which a former educator said of Agriculture: "When tillage begins, other arts follow. The farmers, therefore, are the founders of civilization." That educator was Daniel Webster.

Help us make agriculture not just physically number one in this state, but help us make everyone aware of its importance to the daily lives of all Pennsylvanians, including Governor Casey's!

Cow Comfort

Cows that are comfortable usually are more healthy, more productive and more profitable.

Cow comfort includes many things, some of which are: protection from the elements, ample room and a clean, dry rest area, plenty of fresh air and freedom from drafts, sunshine and shade, good feet and good footing, protection from pests and diseases, convenient access to feed and water, and gentle handling.

Stall Designs

Proper stall design should enhance cow comfort, prevent cow injuries and be efficient for the dairymen to maintain. When cows are lying down, their rumps should extend slightly over the back of the stall or curb and their briskets should be about 5.5 feet further forward in the stall. A width of 4 to 4.5 feet will accommodate most cows, but size of cows should dictate size of stalls. Some dairymen like to have stalls of varying sizes for cattle of different sizes. This may work well in tie stall barns.

Cows also need lunging room to get up and down easily without injury. Be sure cows in tie stalls have adequate length of chain so they can maneuver well.

In free stalls, cows need an additional 2 feet or so in front of the brisket area for head room and for lunging. If cows lie too far forward in the stall they lose the lunging room they need for getting up easily.

A brisket board placed 5.5 feet in from the back of the curb will help to position the cow properly in her stall so she can get up easily and so most of her urine and manure will be deposited behind the stall, rather than on the stall bed.

A brisket board can be built by using a 2"x6" treated oak plank, securing it in the stall bed about 5.5 feet from the rear of the curb, and tilting it forward at a 45° angle.

A neck rail placed directly over the brisket board and about 40" above the stall bed will prevent cows from standing too far forward in the stall. Securing the neck rail tightly to the top rail of the stall dividers can add rigidity to the dividers.

Stall Preferences

Cows like to lie uphill. Sloping the stall bed about 3 inches from front to back improves drainage, reduces the risk of mastitis and may help to discourage cows from backing into the stalls.

In recent years, we are seeing more loop dividers. Some studies indicate that cows may have a slight preference for them, probably because there are no posts to irritate their hips. Some looped dividers are designed to give cows extra head room.

Cows do have a preference of stall beds. High on their list is dirt and sand, but they require a lot of maintenance and sand plays havoc with manure pumps, bearings and gravity flow manure systems.

Close to sand and dirt appear to be tires, mattresses and wooden planks -- if properly installed and maintained.

If tires are used secure them well in clay or concrete. Tamp clay -- not gravel -- in and around each tire.

If they are to be embedded in concrete, cut the tires into 1/3 or 1/4 sections. Tilt the tire sections forward and embed them in the concrete so that a bubble protrudes above the concrete and in a manner that will permit good drainage.

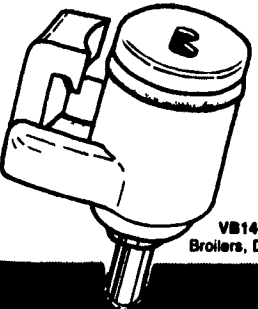

If wood bases are installed, be sure to use 2" oak planks and secure them well to a 2" x 4" cleat under each partition; the cleat can provide footing for cows when they get up.

A shade above concrete is blacktop or concrete with rubber mats. Some cows develop swollen hocks on rubber mats and become crampy. This is especially true when little or no bedding is used.

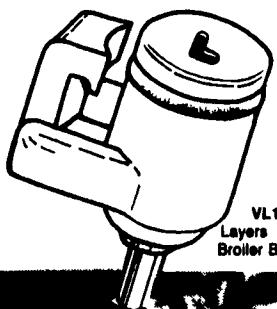

The acceptance of all stalls is generally improved if the stall surface is well maintained -- not gouged out or lumpy, if bedding is used more generously and if the stall bed has a slight backward slope.

First Cutting-Silage or Hay?

Research at several universities indicates it doesn't make any difference in milk production whether dairy cows are fed silage or hay, as long as the forage is of good quality and the cows receive enough of the feed. But there's also plenty of evidence to show that for first cutting at least there's a big advantage for silage in terms of nutrients harvested and preserved for feeding.

Data from our Pennsylvania Alfalfa Grower's Program also shows that farmers who consistently produce the highest annual yields of alfalfa store one or more cuttings each year as silage. That's, of course, because a silage system is less weather dependent, especially in late May and early June, than trying to make hay.

Silage-What Is It?

Silage is defined as "a moist feedstuff preserved by the formation of acids during anaerobic (in the absence of air) fermentation.

Moisture ranges for various silage types are: (1) high moisture or direct-cut silage, 70% moisture and above, (2) wilted silage, 60-70% moisture, and (3) low moisture silage or "haylage", 40-60% moisture. Other things being equal, wilted and low moisture silage strike the best balance between harvest and storage losses. But there are growers who prefer the direct or higher moisture route.

Direct-Cut Silage

Early cut legumes and grasses contain as much as 80 to 85% moisture as harvested. Ensiling this wet material, especially in upright silos, results in excessive deterioration of protein, undesirable odor in silage, seepage, and silo deterioration. Also, direct-cut silage fed as the major forage, usually results in lower consumption of dry matter and lower live-stock production than comparable, well preserved wilted or low-moisture silage or hay.

Silage Additives

For the reasons given above, along with others, my preference is wilted or low moisture silage - if you follow the rules for making this type of silage. Space doesn't permit listing all of the rules, but they include: (1) Harvest at the proper stage of maturity - full bud to early bloom for legumes - early heading for grasses, (2) Wilt to desired moisture, (3) Chop forage short (1/4 to 1/2 inch theoretical cut) and fill silo rapidly, (4) Distribute forage as evenly as practical in silo.

If you follow all of the rules for making wilted or low moisture silage preservatives or additives probably won't help you much. And additives are definitely not a substitute for good silage-making practices. But additives may help if you ensile your legumes or grass forage with over 70% moisture.

Silage additives fall into three major groups: (1) those supplying a source of readily available carbohydrates, (2) organic or mineral acids that rapidly lower pH, and

(3) cultures of specific microbial organisms.

The value of readily available carbohydrates such as corn and cob meal, molasses, dried whey, etc. as preservatives is well known. They provide food needed by lactic acid bacteria to produce the desired lactic acid, lower pH, and in the case of dry bulky feeds, absorb some moisture and help to reduce seepage. When these products are used about 75-85% of the feed nutrients added may be recovered as feed.

Enzyme additives are not readily available carbohydrates, but they break down complex carbohydrates in the existing forage to simple sugars that can be used by the bacteria.

Chemical acids include such products as propionic acid as well as certain mineral acids. These by their action in the silage mass limit microbial growth and help stabilize silage. The net economic benefits from these products may be questionable. But there's some evidence to suggest that organic Farm Credit Bankers Have Long Been Recognized For Achievements In The Field.

Farm Credit bankers possess their share of prestigious achievement awards. But more often than not, the awards they're most proud of are the ones they've earned in, say, conservation, dairy, or veterinary science.

Not many bankers can say that.

That's because most Farm Credit loan officers were born and raised on farms. They grew up active in 4-H and FFA. Many even got their college degrees from ag schools.

What's more, every one of our loan officers goes through the toughest ag lending training program in America.

And because our loan officers understand farming as well as financing, they're not only smarter. They're faster. In fact, they have the power of loan approval equal to most bank presidents.

So stop by soon and talk with your nearby Farm Credit loan officer. Because whenever you need some extra help in your field, you'll want to work with the banker most accomplished in his.

Brown Swiss Sale Features 20 Top-Pedigreed Calves

FREDERICK, Md. — Mark your calendars for Saturday, April 28, 1990 for the annual Mid-Atlantic Brown Swiss Calf Sale scheduled for 11:00 a.m. at the Frederick Fairgrounds.

The Mid-Atlantic Calf Sale has produced many top calves that have been show winners, received grand champion honors, National Junior Bell Ringers, and All-American awards.

These calves are a unique blend of production and sound type. There will be 20 top-pedigreed calves offered for sale. Consignments are already received from breeders in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia, and New York, according to the Md.-Del. Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders Association.

Sale highlights include:

- A March Magnum ET calf out of the Record Cow for Protein in 1988.
- A fancy January Mathew out of a VG 85 dam with 20,000M 888F and 704P.
- A Desperado Sr. Calf out of a VG 87 dam that produced 22,633M 816F and 797F in 365 days.

- Two calves from the Jolly Dee family that has produced an All-American and four All-American nominations.
- A maternal sister to the calf that topped last year's sale.

For more information, contact Harold Long, (301) 271-7577 or Howard Fleming, (301) 475-3440.

Mennonite Relief Sale Totals $500,000

AKRON (Lancaster Co.) — Despite soggy weather, the Mennonite Central Committee (MCC) of Akron raised an estimated $500,000 in their relief sale last week, according to Paul Hoover, MCC sale treasurer.

A single quilt sold for $2,200, and art sales brought in $13,265. The highlight of the show included the quilt sale, which netted the MCC $145,480 at the auction.

Volunteers cooked up about 1,460 strawberry pies for the event, and a "house against hunger," said Hoover, which was built with donated labor and materials in State Line, Franklin County, went for $104,000.

acid based additives may even help if your crop is too dry when ensiled.

Microbial cultures help in the fermentation process leading to a reduced pH.

In recent years we've seen increased emphasis on microbial cultures and enzymes, or a combination of the two, as silage additives. And a number of the products on the market today are improved over similar products of the past. They're still considered of limited value when the crop is harvested and ensiled under optimum conditions. But many workers feel that microbial and enzyme additives may improve fermentation if the ensiled crop is on the wet side.

Dairy Pipeline

Cows generally prefer stalls that face the outside wall of the barn, probably because the air is fresher. However, they reject these stalls if they are not shielded from the hot summer sun.

With this in mind, there might be some advantage of placing free stalls head to head rather than tail to tail. This would place one scrape alley along the outside wall, allowing the sidewall to be opened without exposing free stalls to the hot summer sun or to blowing rains.

Cows in the other row might back out of their stalls directly into a feed alley, depending on barn layout.

A disadvantage of this would be if you pen cows out of the feed alley into the remaining stall area, cows will have access to only half as many stalls.

Good Feet

And Good Footing

Good feet and good footing are important for cow comfort. Cows that walk on sore feet or slippery surfaces do not move well. They make fewer trips to the feed bunk, and they are less active sexually. That translates into poorer production, poorer conception and higher culling rates.

To keep cows' feet drier and healthier, design barns so alleys and lots can be scraped or flushed frequently. Elevate feeding pads to get cows up out of the slop.

Another alternative is to install slatted pits under the alleys to keep cows' hooves drier and to eliminate scraping.

Improve cows' footing by grooving slippery concrete surfaces, and by replacing cows' ramps with steps. To relieve cows from the stress of concrete let them have some access to dirt lots, pastures or bedded packs.

Farm Women Visit State Maple Festival, See Black Home

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

Meyersdale (Somerset Co.)—The ladies from Farm Women Society 14, and some of their husbands, visited the 43rd annual Pennsylvania Maple Festival here last week and got a look at the historically designated home of the founder of the state farm women to boot. In addition, the group visited a quilt show, toured another 200-year-old home preserved as a show place by the Meyersdale Historical Society and enjoyed some pickin' and grinnin' by several jug and blue grass performers in the high school auditorium. It all started at the Strasburg Mennonite Church at 6:00 a.m. Thursday, and ended 16 hours later.

Doris Clapper, a director of the festival show for all 43 years, pulled out a quilted wall hanging by Sadie Brenneman, an Amish lady from the Salisbury area to show to the ladies from Lancaster. Clapper said that Sadie's husband died early, leaving a family of eight children on the farm. To help supplement income, a country store on the farm featured homemade quilts and attracted buyers from Pittsburg and the suburbs of western Pennsylvania. Sadie's 12 quilted pieces were part of the 425 piece show. Clapper said this was their largest show.

"Over the years, I have seen some changes in the quilts," Clapper said.

"Fifteen years ago when the quilt show became part of the festival, the colors were more muted pastel colors", Clapper said. "Now we see a lot of bright, deep colors, and we see quilts of higher quality."

Clapper said the designs have also changed from flower gardens and wedding rings to more original designs of many different subjects. At the festival, they sell from $10,000 to $12,000 worth of quilts each year.

The festival is really built around the tapping of maple trees in the spring to obtain a flow of sap that can be boiled into maple syrup. Spike-like funnals are inserted into the trees and the sap is caught in tin-plated buckets. Up to 80 gallons of sap is needed to make one gallon of syrup.

The pure maple syrup is boiled over a slow, but steady flame until it reaches the hard ball stage. The hot syrup is then poured into the cucumber wood trough to cool and thicken.

Sugar cakes and crumb sugar are made from this thickened syrup.

In the house that is the center of the festival grounds, original Meyers family heirlooms are featured in the restored rooms. Of special interest are a 16-pane, handcrafted corner cupboard with butterfly shelves and a Chickering concert grand piano made in the 1850's. In addition, a modified Sheraton sideboard made for the early Meyersdale family and a swag Tiffany chandelier compete for attention with library and bedroom furniture made in the 1800s.

Over the time of the festival, the school children get a break as the whole town becomes involved to accommodate the influx of tourist who visit each year. The high school is used for concerts of early American music and the local Lions club serves pancakes and sausages for lunch.

Just outside the town, along route 219 on the road to Garrett, a sign erected by the state historic society marks the home of Flora

Black, who lived from 1870 to 1951 and founded the Pennsylvania farm women society.

The inscription on this sign says: "On this farm lived Mrs. Frank B. Black, a civic leader active in the county and state. Here on October 14, 1914, she organized the Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania. In the ensuing years, groups in many Pennsylvania counties became Society affiliates in furtherance of its aims to strengthen the role of farm women and promote better conditions in the State's farm homes."

The farm ground lies along the road, and the tour group assembled in the field in front of the farm for a photograph to prove they were here.

Teaching Children a Lesson About Money

For adults, the reality of money becomes clear as April 16th approaches. As you fret with completing the forms for the government, consider teaching your children a lesson about money.

For many children, reality is not that people have to pay the government for services they receive throughout the year. It's not that individuals have to work very hard for dollars to pay bills. It's not even realizing that living in a home, seeing a movie, or receiving a new toy costs money. All too often, their reality is that any time you need money all you have to do is punch some buttons on a talking machine or hand a salesclerk a plastic card, and you've got it!

How many of you agree that giving children money when they ask for it eliminates a lot of hassles? Should pre-teens and teens be shielded from adult money worries? There are rewards and costs for each of these actions, but in all cases, children need to learn proper money management skills. Why?

First, children are not born with these skills. And it's easier to teach good habits than to correct habits at a later date! Those of us who have struggled to get out of debt know this. Secondly, kids are consumers. Children ages 4 to 12 receive on average $160 spending money each year. They spend most of it on candy and gum, but they also buy presents and magazines. In 1988 teens spent $78 BILLION for household and personal items. In single-parent families or dual-career families, children accept more and more of the shopping responsibilities.

Advertisers know this! They spend a significant portion on ads targeted at kids. This makes our teaching kids good skills even more important.

Our research also indicates that there's less fighting in families where children participate in talks about money. Learning a healthy respect for money can also improve their adult lives. Financial difficulties is one of the major causes of divorce in the United States.

What can parents do?

Be a good model. Remember your children are constantly watching how you treat money. You don't have to be an expert.

Just make a point to talk to youngsters as you go about your tasks. Mention to your son, as you pull one item off a grocery shelf, that by looking at the tag on the shelf you know this brand is much less expensive. When you receive a bank statement in the mail, show your daughter that you must check it with your own record and then file it in a special place.

Older children may have the job of adding up the week's receipts.

Your family can talk about upcoming expenses at dinner. You may even ask for your kids' opinions about a spending decision. However, you don't need to burden them unnecessarily with all the choices you make or with some of the really tough news.

You may feel very alone in your financial struggles, but let me assure you that most people don't have enough money to buy everything they want. Also, it's okay to NOT buy something even if you do have the money. If you don't want your child to spend money on a certain item, simply say so. Don't use the excuse "We don't have enough money." if that's not the real reason.

It's important to provide children with an allowance. The amount is NOT important. The important thing is to give the money on a regular basis. Don't use allowance as a reward or punishment. Expect them to do household work as a member of the family and, as a member of the family, share with them a small part of the family's income.

I believe in encouraging children to save a portion of the money they receive. You may also want them to learn to share part of it with others. Allow them to drop a nickel in a collection plate or a Salvation Army bucket. Let them buy a flower from a charity or toss a penny in a wishing well.

Talking to children and giving them opportunities to make their own decisions about money from a very young age will help them in the years ahead as they face major financial decisions about college, buy a home, and pay their own living expenses.

Dedication Keeps 50 Women In Stitches

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Why have more than 50 women gathered daily at Shalom Christian Academy, Chambersburg over the past few weeks? With needle and thread tediously and carefully maneuvered through the materials, the women develop beautiful quilts. Those quilts will then be auctioned at the annual Cumberland Valley Dutch Fest on May 5.

Jacob Gayman carves a picture of the Last Supper on a wooden box. The finely carved box will be auctioned on May 5, at the annual Cumberland Valley Dutch Fest.

The women stitch these pieces of art in response to their dedication and commitment to Shalom Christian Academy. These women, from 26 different congregations in the Cumberland Valley, use their skills that will be translated into funds for educating their children, their grandchildren, and even their great-grandchildren.

More than 60 pieces of hand-made crafts are donated to the Dutch Fest Quilt Auction for May 5.

This is a continuing tradition for 14 years. Last year the quilt sale netted over $19,000.

The quilts donated are the following: Country Sweetheart, Bridal Wreath, Country Bride, Ohio Rose, Grandpa's Farm, Whig of Rose, Feathered Star, American Rose, Tree of Life, Boston Commons, Philadelphia Pavement, Dresden Plate, Log Cabin, Trip Around the World, Broken Star, Mariner's Compass, Winner's Circle, State Bird and Flower, and Sampler.

Besides the Quilt Auction, there will be handcrafted wooden items, Mothers, grandmothers, great grandmothers and friends use their talents to produce beautiful quilts for the Cumberland Valley Dutch Fest auction. The proceeds from the auction will be used to educate children.

Winn-Ross trucks, other antique and model toys, meat, tasty food of every description and hundreds of other items which last year grossed more than $75,000.

The day is preceded by a Heifer Sale on Friday evening May 4 with some very choice animals being auctioned for the benefit of the school.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Use your microwave to heat ham slices for a small Easter dinner. Or, microwave a festive sauce and serve it with oven-roasted ham for a crowd.

Fully-cooked boneless ham is the fastest to microwave and easiest to serve because it just needs heating and needs no last-minute carving.

Slice ham in even slices, about a quarter inch thick. Arrange slices overlapping in a circle, with the center open, on a microwave-safe serving platter. You could use any microwave-safe shallow dish or tray, but it's easier to use the same container for heating and serving. And, the ham will stay hot longer on the warm platter. Remember, use a platter that is safe for microwave cooking and has no metal trim.

Add a very small amount of liquid or glaze to help keep the ham moist. Use about a quarter cup of any kind of juice, water with spices, or glaze for each 1½ to two pounds of ham.

Cover ham slices with waxed paper to hold in some moisture as the ham heats and to help in even heating. For a large amount, lay a sheet of plastic wrap over the top to hold in maximum heat.

Microwave on Medium (50 percent power, 325 to 350 watts). Allow about four to six minutes per pound. Medium power is better than High because it prevents the edges of ham from overcooking and drying out. Figure minimum total heating time by multiplying number of pounds of ham by four minutes. Add more time if ham is not hot after minimum heating time.

Rotate the dish for even heating, if necessary, in your microwave oven. Rotate the dish (by giving the dish a quarter turn) at least once during microwaving — more often with large amounts of ham. When heating large amounts, check slices when about three-fourths of heating time is up. If outside slices look dry, move them to the center of dish, placing center slices to outside edges.

With boneless fully cooked hams, there is no waste, so plan on an average of four servings per pound. For small appetites, a pound will serve five; for hearty eaters, allow three servings per pound.

Today's recipes show how to microwave ham slices in a tangy glaze and make a festive sauce for a small dinner party.

Heating a large amount of ham for a crowd isn't too practical, so here's how to use these recipes to serve a crowd: Oven-roast a whole ham. Make as much sauce as needed by multiplying amounts of sauce ingredients and cooking times by two to six. Be sure to use a large enough container. Take out the portion to be used for glaze. Brush this on ham several times towards end of conventional baking time. Add fruit to the remaining sauce; right before serving, microwave until warm. Pass sauce to serve with carved ham.

You can prepare either of these recipes ahead and heat right before serving. A day ahead, make the sauce; take out the portion to be used for glaze, cover and refrigerate. Add the fruit to the remaining sauce, cover and refrigerate. For a small dinner, slice the ham and arrange it on a microwave-safe platter. Cover tightly and refrigerate.

Glazed Ham Slices With Blueberry Sauce

- 2 pounds fully cooked lean smoked ham
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- ¼ cup water
- ½ cup apricot preserves
- 2 tablespoons packed brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons dry red wine or water
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1 cup fresh blueberries, rinsed and well-drained, or unthawed frozen blueberries

Cut ham in ¼ -inch-thick slices. Arrange slices, overlapping, around edges of microwave-safe meat platter (with no metal trim) or an 8x12 baking dish. Set aside.

In a microwave-safe 1-quart measure, stir together cornstarch and water, mixing until smooth.

Stir in preserves, brown sugar, wine and lemon juice. Microwave (High) 1½ to 2½ minutes, stirring after each 1 minute, or until boiling and thick. Remove about ¼ cup and drizzle over ham. Stir blueberries into remaining mixture and set aside.

Cover ham with waxed paper. Microwave on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts) 8 to 10 minutes or until hot. After 6 minutes, touch ham through waxed paper. If some slices feel much hotter than others, rearrange slices and continue microwaving. Cover tightly with foil (over the waxed paper) to keep warm.

Microwave sauce with blueberries on High for 1 to 1½ minutes or until hot. Pass sauce to serve over ham. Makes about 8 servings (1 cup sauce).

Each serving: 202 calories, 19g protein, 11g fat, 15g carbohydrate, 1179mg sodium, 48mg cholesterol.

To make ahead: Slice and arrange ham as above; cover tightly and refrigerate. Make sauce, remove ¼ cup, cover and refrigerate. Add blueberries to the remaining sauce, cover and refrigerate. Before heating, drizzle glaze over ham slices. Cover with waxed paper and microwave on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts) 10 to 12 minutes, as above. To reheat cold sauce: Microwave (High) 1 minute; stir well. Continue microwaving until hot, about 1 to 2 more minutes. Do not boil, or sauce will thin.

Plum Glazed Ham Slices With Red Grapes

- 1 pound boneless fully cooked lean smoked ham
- 1 teaspoon cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons water
- 6 tablespoons plum jam
- 1 to 1½ tablespoons red wine vinegar or cider vinegar
- ½ teaspoon ground allspice
- ½ to 1 cup red seedless grapes

Cut ham in ½ -inch-thick slices; arrange, overlapping slices, around edges of a microwave-safe serving plate (with no metal trim) or a 9-inch pie plate. Set aside.

In a microwave-safe 1-quart measure, stir together cornstarch and water, mixing until smooth. Stir in jam, vinegar and allspice. Microwave (High) 1½ to 2 minutes, stirring after each 45 seconds, or until boiling and thick. Remove about 2 tablespoons and drizzle over ham. Cover ham with waxed paper. Microwave on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts) 5 to 6 minutes or until hot. Rearrange slices halfway through heating, if necessary for even heating. Cover tightly with foil (over the waxed paper) to keep warm.

Add grapes to sauce. Microwave (High) 1 to 1½ minutes or until warm. (Do not cook grapes.) Spoon sauce over ham before serving. Makes about 4 servings.

To make ahead: Slice and arrange ham slices as above; cover tightly and refrigerate. Make sauce, remove 2 tablespoons; cover and refrigerate. Add grapes to the remaining sauce, cover and refrigerate. Before heating, drizzle glaze over ham slices. Cover with waxed paper and microwave on Medium (50 percent power, 325-350 watts) 7 to 8 minutes, as above. To reheat cold sauce: Microwave (High) 45 seconds; stir well. Continue microwaving until warm, about 1 to 1½ more minutes.

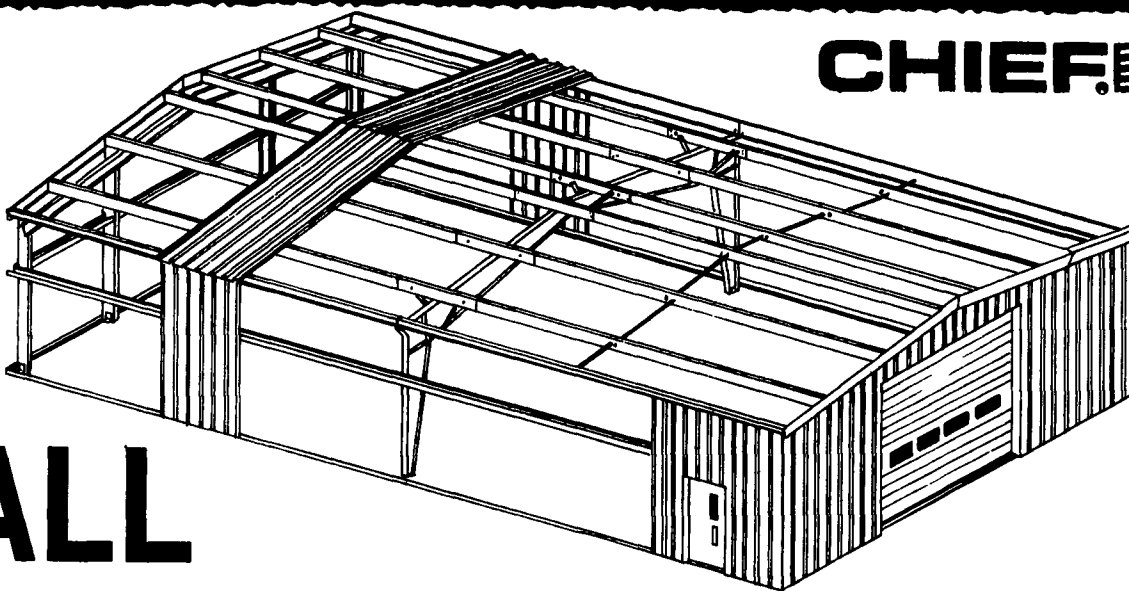

Each serving: 239 calories, 19g protein, 11g fat, 25g carbohydrate, 1181mg sodium, 48mg cholesterol.

Mix It, Mold It, Cut It, Eat It — Jell-O

When Jell-O was released on the market in 1897, it got off to a shaky start. But in 1902, advertising proclaimed Jell-O as America's most famous dessert and used the theme "You can't be a kid without it."

Full-color recipe books began telling cooks how to use this new product. Its popularity grew and today there are 16 Jell-O flavors.

Gelatin can be used interchangeably with Jell-O. The sugar-free varieties are growing in popularity.

Because it can be molded into whatever shape desired, made into finger gelatin and cut with cookie cutters, artistic ideas abound for creating a jiggling masterpiece to admire and eat.

If you don't like to mold it or eat it plain, mix it with vegetables, fruits, dairy products and desserts to create unlimited recipes. The General Foods Test Kitchens have developed more than 1,773 ways to fix Jell-O. Here are some of our readers' favorites.

Many save baking cookie cutouts for the Christmas holidays, but not the Martin family, who live on Serene Valley Farm in Lampeter. For Glenda Martin and her two children, cutting out cookie shapes is year-around fun.

Almost weekly, Nicole, 3½, and Dustin, 5, help their mother mix, roll out, and decorate cookies. Each child uses their own little rolling pin. They cut out animal shapes and many times frost and sprinkle toppings on top.

Because the Martins are busy on their dairy farm, they often wait until night to bake cookies.

Glenda said, "When we're finished, I sweep up heaps of crumbs and toppings, but it is worth it to see the fun the children have decorating cookies."

Here is their favorite cookie recipe. To read more about the Martin family, look for their story in this section.

SERENE VALLEY FARM CUTOUT COOKIES

- 2 cups brown sugar
- ¼ cup butter, softened
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 eggs
- 3 cups flour
- 1 cup M&M candies, optional
- ½ cup chopped nuts
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Frosting, optional
- Cookie toppings, optional

Mix brown sugar, butter, vanilla, and eggs in a large bowl until well blended. Stir in remaining ingredients. Roll out dough. Add more flour, if necessary. Cut into desired shapes. Frost and sprinkle on toppings, if desired.

Bake in 350 degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes. Cool slightly. Remove to wire rack. Makes about 2½ dozen cookies.

ANSWER — Jeanna Kenna requested ways to organize recipes that she clips from Lancaster Farming. In addition to the methods formerly printed, readers have sent some more ideas. Thanks to Nancy Wallace, New Holland; Inez Ware, Waynesboro, VA; and a Bradford reader, for the following ideas.

•Buy two recipe files. Each file contains the usual heading cards. Use one file for untried recipes. Use the second for those you tried and liked.

•A Bradford reader has five albums full and is working on her sixth one. Divide by headings.

Time For The Big Easter Egg Hunt

LOU ANN GOOD

Lancaster Farming Staff

STEVENS (Lancaster Co.) —

Amanda Charmaine giggled and pointed at the ceramic rabbit setting on the table. "Look at the bunny watching me," she whispered.

While Amanda and her 6-year-old brother Buddy painted eggs in rainbow hues, they couldn't keep from giggling.

"This is fun," Buddy said as he dipped an egg into green colored dye. "Green is my favorite color."

His sister pointed to blue and purple as her favorite shade to color the eggs.

When the dye on the eggs dried, the children put stickers on the eggs. The stickers had pictures of Humpty Dumpty, flowers and eggs on them.

After the children of Robert and Gloria Williams had several baskets of colored eggs, they went to their neighbor's yard for an Easter Egg Hunt.

The Hunt was held on the farm of Galen and Carolyn Crouse, Stevens. The Crouse's grandchildren, Adriane, 1; Lane, 4; Eric, 4, and Joel, 1½; were visiting their grandparents and participated in the hunt.

Neighbors Philip, 4, and Nathan, 7, sons of John and Karen Weiler, also joined in the hunt.

While the mothers hid the eggs, the children could not resist peeping.

"Don't look...don't look," some of the older children warned the younger ones. "You aren't supposed to watch where they hide them."

Finally, the mothers were finished hiding the eggs. The children ran off in search of the hidden eggs. They looked in the daffodil flower bed. They searched under the bushes, around the trees, and beside the house.

"I found one," Lane squealed.

"I see one," Eric said as he scooped it up and stuck it in his basket.

The children were fast. Soon they had found all the eggs. They gathered together to show each other their baskets of eggs.

"I love to hunt Easter eggs," Philip said. "I want to color them, hide them, and hunt them all year long."

Amanda Charmaine choses a sticker to put on her colored Easter egg.

Amanda and Buddy finished coloring the eggs and are now ready to hide them.

Which way do we go to find the hidden eggs?

The eggs were hidden in the tulip patch and around the house.

Your Guide To Guilt-Free Desserts

It is no secret that many Americans love to indulge in rich, creamy desserts. Unfortunately, however, many of these tempting indulgences are high in calories, fat and cholesterol and contain little nutritional value.

In order to satisfy cravings for dessert without abandoning healthy eating practices, use yogurt as a substitute for cream, cream cheese or sour cream to maintain taste, add extra calcium and cut down on fat, calories and cholesterol. Here's how:

- Prepare chilled dessert recipes with yogurt instead of sour cream, cream cheese or heavy cream and significantly reduce the amount of fat and calories. Compare one cup of each of the following: Non-fat plain yogurt, 110 calories, 0 g of fat; sour cream, 415 calories, 40 g of fat; cream cheese, 790 calories, 79 g of fat; heavy cream, 830 calories, 90 g of fat.

To maintain the flavor of sour cream and cut back on fat and calories, mix two parts of low fat or non-fat plain yogurt with one part sour cream.

- When dessert recipes call for buttermilk, milk or even water, substitute equal parts of yogurt instead. When added to certain cake, cookie and pudding recipes, yogurt produces a rich, moist consistency and an added boost of calcium.

- Top Belgian waffles and fill crepes with a dollop of vanilla or fruit-flavored yogurt instead of ice cream, or other high-calorie fillings such as fruit preserves, whipped cream or chocolate sauce.

- Whip up a healthy version of two all-American favorites. Slim down a sundae by substituting a cup of plain or vanilla yogurt for ice cream. Top with fresh fruit and sprinkle with blanched almonds. Create a low-fat banana split by cutting a banana lengthwise, placing in banana boat and covering with slices of fresh strawberries and whole blueberries. Top with a well-shaken banana or other fruit-flavored yogurt.

- Minimize the overly sweet taste of confectioner's sugar in frostings by substituting an equal amount of yogurt for the liquid ingredient. Or use a spoonful of lemon or vanilla yogurt as a light topping for spice cake, pound cake or angel food cake.

- For a decadent dessert with a healthy twist, drizzle two tablespoons of hot fudge over a cup of non-fat plain yogurt (total calories 224) or vanilla or coffee yogurt (total calories 324).

Here is a recipe for a low-calorie, low-fat, great-tasting dessert:

Raspberry Mousse

Per serving: 120 calories; 1 gram fat; 5 mg. cholesterol

1½ cups raspberries, fresh or frozen without sugar, pureed
¼ cup apricot nectar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1½ cups vanilla yogurt
½ cup fresh raspberries (optional)

Sprinkle gelatin over apricot nectar in a small saucepan. Let stand one to two minutes, until softened. Over low heat, warm mixture until just dissolved.

In a medium bowl, using a small whisk, gradually beat the gelatin mixture into the fruit puree. Place the mixture in your refrigerator for 10 to 15 minutes. Using an electric mixer set at low speed, beat the mixture about 30 seconds until fluffy. Fold in yogurt.

Transfer the mousse to a 3-cup mold or 4 individual serving dishes. Let chill for several hours until firm. Garnish with fresh berries.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Colors. Warm pinks, delicate lavenders, sunny yellows, soft blues.

Colors. Shades of the season. An Easter season minus the dainty hues of springtime pastels simply defies imagination.

Nature herself sets this scene, saluting the renewal of life with clusters of golden daffodil trumpets, plump purple and pink hyacinth blooms, and early tulip cups opening in cheery splashes.

Robins return to flash russet breasts against greening lawns while goldfinches exchange grayish winter feathers for new ones of neon yellow. In open meadows, small perky shapes in pale blue and rusty-pink mark the bluebirds' welcome return.

And sunrise services celebrate the Easter drama against a backdrop shimmering with the fast-changing hues of the heavens at dawn.

Humans feverishly attempt to copycat Nature's efforts, stepping out in seasonal garb reflecting a whole array of crayon-box colors. And in an ages-old tradition marrying seasonal color to an everyday commodity, we transform the ordinary into the classic Easter symbol.

Eggs. And color. Easter without painted Easter eggs is simply unthinkable. In my earliest memories, Easter and coloring eggs are indelibly linked. More recent years have seen three generations of us painting eggs as we relaxed after Easter dinner. A memorable session a few years ago brought an assortment of teen-age boys coloring truly unique eggs. (It is 3 p.m.; do you know where your child is? Certainly. Coloring punk rock Easter eggs.)

Alas and alack, the egg-coloring crowd here is all "grewed" up -- and half of it living on the other side of the country. So when the Sunday School notice went around with a request for egg hunt donations, it seemed like a perfect excuse to color up a batch.

But not alone. No indeed. True pleasure in egg dyeing is sharing the experience, preferably with a couple little kids. Two small neighbors, ages five and two, fit the Easter egg coloring classification just about right.

A panful of week-old, white-shelled eggs simmered on the stove as the pair shed coats inside the front door and headed for the table. Layers of newspaper went over every inch of the surface, to soak up inevitable drips of the pink, purple, blue and yellow dye.

Sections of a styrofoam egg carton provided handy holders so that little fingers weren't burned by the steaming hot eggs. A handful of cotton-tipped swabs were piled by the four small bottles of dye, with frequent reminders and assistance from us two assisting adults to not mix the swabs in the different bottles.

What my memory had omitted was just how quickly a couple of little kids can lather eggs with color. I'd figured on cooking the second batch while we colored the first. But, the second panful was just beginning to boil as the last egg of the first batch got its final coat of paint.

Rare is the small child (or most grownups!) who waits with patience; we relocated outside to run off energy while the eggs finished cooking. But as grownups are prone to do, their mother and I got sidetracked visiting outside in the sunshine. Suddenly aware of noticeable silence, we took off in search of the source of quiet.

Coming up empty-handed outside, we headed back for the kitchen. Sure enough, the eager egg-dyeing team had returned to artistic pursuits, minus only the eggs. Who needs 'em? Beautiful color adorned newspapers, cotton-swabs, egg holders and little fingers, of course.

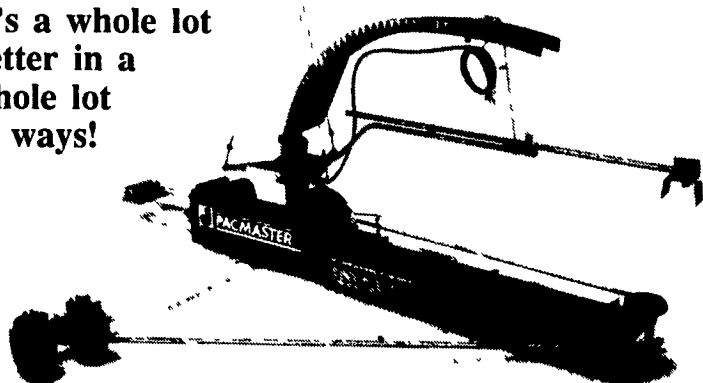

With slightly-blue purple, slightly-purple blue, and a somewhat more blended shade of yellow -- sorry, guys, the pink spilled -- the remaining batch of eggs was quickly covered. Cleanup was quick: all the fallout rolled together into a crumpled ball and tossed into the trashcan.

We colored eggs. But I think we hatched a memory.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

On the days when April does not bring rain, there are many outside jobs to be completed. Our house is surrounded by many trees and bushes. My husband has been cutting down large evergreen trees for the past three months. They were put in a row in the lower garden as seedlings and then never transplanted. Now he feels that they provide too much shade for growing crops.

I've been using my little pruning shears on mock orange bushes, rose of Sharon, lilac, forsythia, and pussy willow. It isn't that they were not pruned last year, but rather that they grow so rapidly and make it difficult to mow the lawn.

Some people love to jump into a car and drive. I have a sister that never feels more carefree than when she's zipping down a highway. Me, I'm a worrier and seldom leave home without praying that I'll come back safely. And yet, my life has been one of chauffeuring people. From the time that I was 16 and my grandfather asked me to take him to visit his relatives in his new Buick. At the same time, I had six younger sisters who had school and church activities that they wanted to attend. And, guess who was to drive — Ida.

Next came marriage and children. These six siblings really kept me busy as music lessons, 4-H meetings, church youth programs, etc. seemed to merge into me being a constant taxi service. Drop one off here and pick another up there. Out school district provided no transportation for kindergartners and so I drove 20 miles each day to school and home again.

Grandfather Inspires Queen's Love For Cows

Linda Williams
Bedford Co. Correspondent
BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — For the second straight year, a Bedford County girl has been named Pennsylvania State Guernsey Queen.

Succeeding Angelique McDonald of Imler is Beth Clark, a senior at Bedford High School and the daughter of Sherrill Clark of Bedford.

"I can hardly remember when I began showing cattle," Beth said. "It's been at least ten years ago."

She now has her own herd of 25 Guernseys which she keeps on the 136-acre farm of her grandfather, Robert Smith.

With a room full of trophies from her many Guernsey shows, Beth has taken a grand champion award and had the reserve grand champion in the state 4-H show.

Then for nine years I was my mother's driver after she became a widow. You know the places that needed to be visited such as the doctor, the grocery store, and the bank plus funerals and public sales.

She also had a cow selected to go to the Pennsylvania National Junior Guernsey Breeders show. "But, at the last minute we couldn't go," she remembers. "Because the cow was dry and we were afraid she might get mastitis."

Beth says she got interested in Guernseys when she was growing up near her grandfather's farm. He has his own herd of 45 Guernseys.

In addition to Guernseys, Beth is also quite interested in dogs and obedience training. She and her mother instructed a course in dog training for the Bedford County 4-H.

"It all came about," Beth remembers, "when a local dog breeder contacted the Extension office looking for someone to help her learn to train dogs."

"The Extension personnel knew I had shown a lot of cattle and had won numerous showing awards so they thought I might also like to train dogs. I gave it a try and found out I did."

"The first thing I did was to fall in love with the Sheltie dog that I was training and I ended up owning her. If I just had more time, I know I could do more in this field."

Heather Becker Transforms From City Gal To Ayrshire Princess

LOU ANN GOOD

Lancaster Farming Staff

Within one week, Heather Becker captured the state Ayrshire Princess crown and the district top FFA prepared speaking title.

"I can't believe it," the 16-year-old sophomore at Pequea Valley said. "I didn't think I had a chance at either of them."

Heather was 11-years-old before she became acquainted with farming, but in those ensuing years, she hasn't wasted any time in achieving a good string of Ayrshires and earning ribbons for her showing and speaking abilities.

"I like to accomplish things," Heather said. "I can't stand sitting around wasting time. If I sleep later than 6 a.m., I feel like I'm wasting time."

Wasting time is something this former city girl cannot be accused of doing.

Out of the city

Heather's introduction to farm life began five years ago when her mother, Pattie, became bored with her secretarial job and took a job as a herdsman on a Narvon dairy farm.

It was the Beckers' first experience with farming.

"At first," Heather recalled, "I refused to walk through the pastures because I thought the cows would charge me. I thought only bulls had horns, and I didn't want to go near a cow for fear it would bite me."

But it wasn't long before Heather helped milk the 32 Ayrshires, fed the calves, and gave hay.

Both Heather and her mom loved working on the 110-acre farm.

Heather joined a 4-H dairy club. That first meeting is where she made a decision that she credits with helping her achieve success in her many ventures.

She said, "That first meeting, I felt so intimidated. The other members seem so much older and I wanted to hide in a corner. But I decided instead of feeling sorry for myself that I would talk to the other girls."

She did. Soon she made close friends. One of those is Angela Spickler, the Lancaster and state alternate Dairy Princess.

"Angie is my idol," Heather said. "She's older than me, and I always looked up to her because she has such a positive attitude about everything — she never cuts up on anyone or complains."

Heather credits the Ayrshire breed for giving her many opportunities to develop her leadership skills.

Angie, Heather said, taught her not to get upset if competition did not do the fitting on their own animals.

"It's immature to get upset. It's more important to know that when I get a ribbon, I deserved it because I did it myself — from building up my herd through breeding to fitting," Heather said.

The first year in 4-H, Heather showed her first Ayrshire. "The first couple of years, I wasn't very successful with showing," Heather said, "but I kept trying."

Trying — until she got first in Junior showing and the grand champion in the South Central district. At the Ayrshire Breeders' Convention, she took the showmanship and fitting championship plus the best bred and owned.

"Each year, I get a little better," said Heather who now owns eight of her own Ayrshires.

To New York and back

In December 1988, Heather and her mom moved to New York, 12 miles from the Canadian border, where her mom was herdsman for a 70-head Ayrshire farm. But the subzero temperatures and the isolation made them homesick and they returned to the Narvon farm.

Now Heather's mom works as a DHIA tester and Heather helps her milk test about three nights a week.

The evenings that she isn't helping her mom, Heather works at a 70-head Guernsey farm where she keeps her 8 Ayrshires.

Heather has held 4-H club offices as song and games leader, secretary, and vice president.

"I love showing and meeting people," Heather said. "Four-H has brought out leadership qualities in me. I make it a point not to leave a show until I have met one new person."

FFA Speaking Contest

Heather is the only girl in the Pequea Valley FFA where she is secretary and has won numerous proficiency awards, public speaking contests, and the coveted star farmer award.

On April 5, she competed with FFA'ers from several counties in the prepared speech contest. She spoke on "An apple a day used to keep the doctor away."

In her speech she promoted low input farming methods. Heather said that Robert Campbell, the Narvon farmer for whom she works, practices low input farming methods. She said, "The method naturally takes more pampering but yields are just as high, and everyone gets a tan cultivating."

House restoration

Heather and her mother are currently restoring the 1865 farmhouse in which they live. They have "before" pictures of rooms so filled with debris and dilapidated that the women were convinced the only solution was to set a match to it.

But the mother and daughter team, who say they are more like sisters, push each other to do just a little more whether its sanding, plastering, or refinishing the numerous antiques they uncovered under the debris.

"I prefer working in the barn to refinishing the house," Heather said.

In spite of all her activities, Heather maintains honor roll status in taking academic plus ag courses at Pequea Valley.

"So many girls my age talk about wanted to get engaged," Heather said. "I get so frustrated. How can they waste all these years? There is so much out there to accomplish and to be part of."

Heather is contemplating majoring in animal husbandry or engineering at Penn State.

More time is something that is difficult for the new State Guernsey Queen to find. At Bedford High School, she is the senior class president, a member of the student council, ski club, chorus, band, yearbook staff, and a cheerleader.

Last year, she was named one of six national winners in the National 4-H Dairy Scholarship Blue Form Competition. Her prizes included a trip to the national competition and a $1,000 scholarship.

Her competition for the Guernsey Queen title included answering the questions, "What would you do if President Bush took the same attitude towards milk that he has towards broccoli?"

"I said that I would encourage him not to speak out against milk but at the same time realize that everyone is entitled to an opinion." Beth says she would also ask him to try ice cream, cheese, or yogurt instead of just drinking milk."

Following her graduation from high school in May, Beth plans to attend Carlow College to major in biology pre-med.

The competition for the queen title was held on Friday evening, March 30, at Chambersburg. Others in the contest included Melissa McDonald of Imler and Carrie McKenzie of Clinton.

Search For Poultry Queen

PARADISE (Lancaster Co.)—The Lancaster County Poultry Association is now looking for contestants for its Lancaster Queen Pageant. This year's contest will be held at a banquet on August 3, at the Farm and Home Center, 6:30 p.m.

The queen will receive either a $500 educational scholarship or $300 in cash. The runner-up will receive either a $300 educational scholarship or $150 in cash. Also, each contestant will receive an attractive, complimentary wrist watch.

The entrants must be single, have completed their junior year in high school and not over 23 years of age at the time of the contest. Also, the entrants or a family member should be associated with the poultry industry.

If interested or if you know someone who may be interested, contact Tom Pantano, chairman of queen contest, at (717) 687-7670.

Breakfast Buddy Program

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—School districts across Pennsylvania are competing to be named the top "Breakfast Buddy" program. The Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion and Pennsylvania Milk Dealers are sponsoring the contest to select the most outstanding promotion of school breakfast.

School food service directors have been encouraged to promote the "Breakfast Buddy" campaign in schools where breakfast is served. The campaign, organized by the Department of Education, encourages students to join the "Breakfast Buddy Club" at school by eating school breakfasts. Various prizes are available for the students including bookmarks, rulers, and coloring books.

For food service directors, one grand prize winner will receive a $1,000 prize, which will go toward his or her expenses to the 1990 American School Food Service Association's annual meeting

Farm Wife Finds Joy In The Simple Things Of Life

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LAMPETER (Lancaster Co.) — Like many young couples who begin to farm, Glenda and Darrell Martin spend long hours working side by side to make farming a profitable venture.

"We don't have much money, but I've learned that possessions do not bring the most satisfaction in life," Glenda said. "It's the simple things of life that bring me so much pleasure — a newborn calf, a child's smile, freshly baked cookies...."

As the mother of two, Glenda said, "I try to be a positive person. Attitude sets the mood for the way we enjoy life."

Her day starts at 5:00 a.m. with a cup of coffee and then out to the barn where she feeds the cows the old-fashioned way — forking silage off a cart.

Darrell milks the cows with a automatic shutoff milking system. "But we can only milk 28 at a time since we don't have room for all 40," Glenda said. "Since we are just starting out, we don't have things as convenient as we hope to someday."

A scale is mounted on the feed cart, and Glenda weighs out each cow's feed and top dress and adds minerals and fats to the diets of a number of cows.

Glenda gets a load of hay with the scoop tractor that she delivers to the free stall barn and the heifer barn. She fills the silage cart with 10 feed bags plus 10 buckets of feed on the loader to feed grain and silage to dry cows.

The Martins hooked up an intercom system between the house and barn. In the morning, when the children awake, they dress themselves and join their parents in the barn where they help feed the calves.

"Feeding the heifers is my pride and joy," Glenda said. "To see 25 of them lined up from the youngest to the oldest gives me such a good feeling."

But her love for the animals has drawbacks. "I get so attached to the animals that it's hard for me run the farm as a business because I don't want to get rid of any of the animals, even if they aren't producing well," Glenda said.

She credits her husband for making wise culling decisions and for bookkeeping.

"I don't like to do things where I need to sit still," she said. "I'm the hired man, housewife, homemaker, and I waitress at a local restaurant two days a week. I love to work."

Glenda believes she has a good background for farming. She tells whimsical tales from her childhood where she, as the youngest of 10 children born within 11 years, grew up on a farm.

"As soon as we could walk, my dad had us out in the fields, picking up stones, stacking hay, pulling weeds — if he saw a weed, we got it."

Glenda thrived on the hard work. She refused to sleep late even when she had permission, because she loved helping with the milking, feeding, and field work.

She and her sisters treated animals as their playmates. They cut ribbons from discarded clothing to tie on the heifers and on their ponies for an animal fashion show. Once, Glenda fell asleep while playing with the pigs in the pig pen.

When she first met her husband-to-be, Daryl was working in an ag-related business. He had left the family farm because he hated it, but after several years off the farm, marriage, and the birth of two children, the tug to return was persistent.

"Although my husband and I had a strong background in farming and wanted to return to it, we were hesitant because so many awful predictions about farming were being forecast during that time. People were talking about an epidemic cow disease, drought, and financial debt that would wipe farmers out economically," she said.

(Turn to Page B25)

Cutting out shaped cookies is a year-around tradition for the Martin family. "We have so much fun doing it and the children love the animal shapes," Glenda said.

LEADERSHIP AT WORK

But the love of the land and the possibility of being his own boss, of scheduling his own time even if it involved long hours, encouraged the Martins to take the plunge. Darrell eased back into farming gradually by helping his dad on the farm three days a week while working elsewhere for four days. After a year, Darrell's father entered a full-time pastorate and Darrell took over the family farm.

Right from the beginning, the Martins wanted their two children to enjoy farm life as much as possible. The high rate of farm accidents for children and the memory of Darrell's 3-year-old sister being killed in a tractor accident, inspired Darrell to find a safe alternative for his children to enjoy tractor rides.

Glenda found two car seats at garage sales and Darrell bolted the seats to the tractor fender.

"They ride for hours safely belted in the seats," Glenda said. "Sometimes they even fall asleep in the seats. They always want to be on the tractor when it is running."

Despite her high energy level, Glenda discovered there is a limit to how much a person can do. She cut back on keeping a big garden, but she continues to can and freeze most of their vegetables and fruit and the family also does its own butchering.

With the demands on her schedule, Glenda said, "I learned to clean and cook fast. I've learned that I feel better when everything is in place and well organized."

Although she enjoys hard manual labor, she also loves dressing up, make up, and glamour.

"My hands are callous and I got muscles from hard work, but I try to do what I can to appear stylish," she said. She wears fingernail polish so that people don't notice her calloused fingers. Her attractively styled dark hair makes her appear younger than her 30 years.

Customers at Hershey Farms Restaurant, where she waitresses two days a week, often express disbelief that Glenda works in a barn. Glenda enjoys both jobs. She said, "Waitressing is my hobby. I go there to talk to people instead of cows."

Recently Glenda was chosen to participate in the Mrs. Pennsylvania contest, but she declined because it would have required a two-night stay away from the farm.

"But I was privileged to be chosen — me, a country girl from the sticks," Glenda said.

With all her enthusiasm for and enjoyment of farm life, Glenda admits that beginning to farm is hard because of the financial capital needed.

"I work so hard and sometimes we don't know where the next dime is coming from," she said. "If I'm with friends and they want to stop at a restaurant to eat, I push to go home because I need to watch the pennies. I don't like needing to be so tight with money, but then I remind myself that I can't have everything. Our financial circumstance won't last forever, but family and friends will."

Before Glenda was married, she toured the U.S. and other countries for four years with a Christian singing group called the Choraliers. She still enjoys singing and sometimes sings at special events with her six sisters.

But most of the time, she is out with the cows.

"Yesterday a cow was in heat and refused to go into the barn," Glenda said. "I was out chasing it through the fields that were an inch deep in mud. Finally, in exasperation, I said, 'God, there has to be a better way' — I pray about everything — and sure enough the cow walked right in to the barn — and I said, 'Thank you, Lord.'"

"You see, living on the farm has helped me feel really close to the Lord — and that's what I like best about living on the farm."

28 Foot Length Shown

1 - 28 Ft. & 2 - 32 Ft. Models Now In Stock

Optional deck over the neck is 7 1/2' x 8'

The FLIP-UP BEAVERTAIL raises and lowers in seconds -- slide out ramps are stored under the beavertail. The Hillsboro Flatbed features a full 96" deck width which is more value than the competition.

The Hillsboro Flatbed is available in two styles; the 20' and 24' trailer with standard neck, and the 28', 30' and 32' trailer with heavy duty neck.

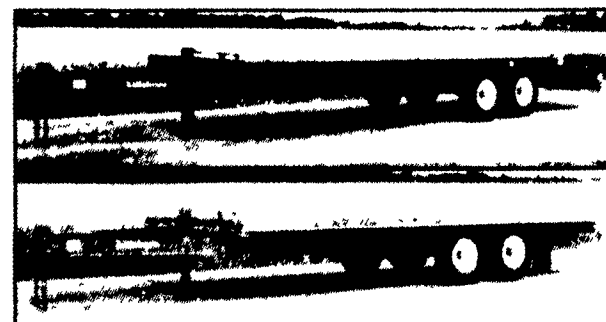

VERSATILE — RUGGED — RELIABLE and REASONABLY PRICED!

The Hillsboro Flatbed Trailer with flip-up beavertail can be the one trailer that means lower cost for you. Here's why!!

VERSATILITY! That's what makes a Hillsboro trailer such a good investment. With the beavertail down it's an excellent trailer for moving wheeled equipment. Flip the beavertail up and it adds an extra four feet of deck space for hauling hay and other bulky loads.

HERE'S WHAT HILLSBORO QUALITY MEANS - All Hillsboro trailers are manufactured in precise jigs and fixtures which assures excellent alignment of axles, a better pulling trailer, a level and square trailer.

HILLSBORO WORKMANSHIP INCLUDES-Exceptional weld quality, material that is chemically cleaned, two coats of high quality paint, material strength engineered into the best flat-bed value.

Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timppte tough... the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wind drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timppte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

EBY

CONSTRUCTED FOR YEARS OF MAINTENANCE-FREE SERVICE.

You'll get more out of an Eby aluminum grain body. Lightweight and rugged aluminum provides rigid, fuel-efficient support to fill your grain hauling needs.

Eby packs years of experience, workmanship and performance into every aluminum body it manufactures. And special Eby options let you customize your body to your individual operation. Available in standard lengths, each unit is designed to provide you with an investment in durable performance and practical economy.

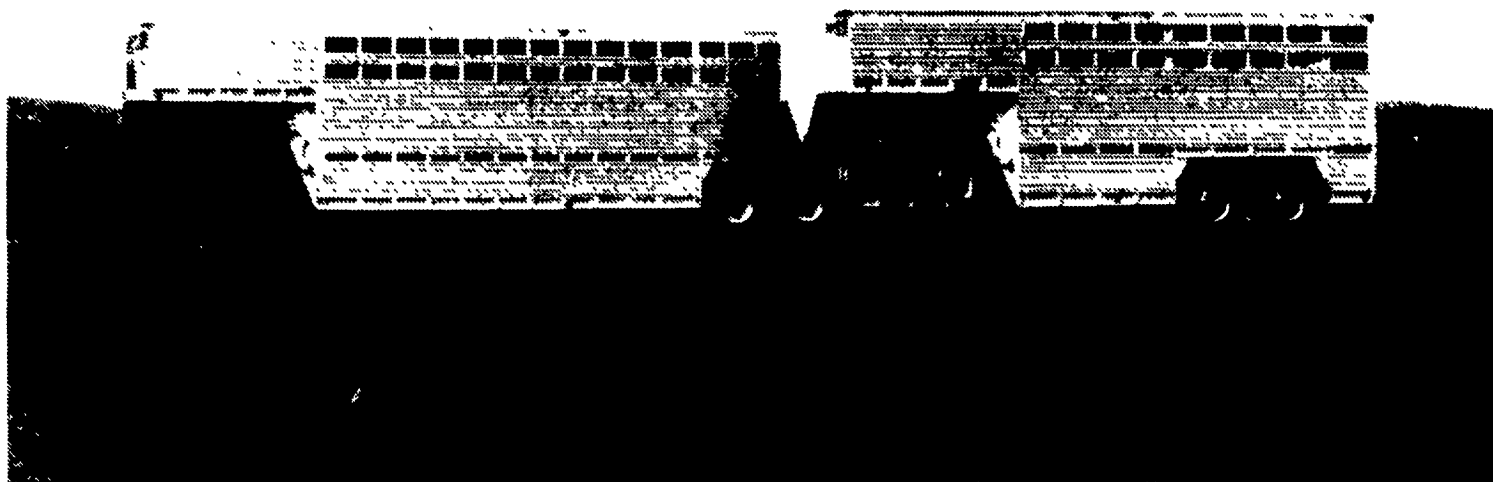

Look over these outstanding features.

- Less weight. Eby aluminum bodies weigh up to 30% less than comparable steel and wood construction.
- Less maintenance. Aluminum construction won't rust or rot - never needs painting.
- Long-life durability. Heavy-duty structural components and hollow-tube frame combine with aluminum floor and sides to stand up to years of hard work.

For more information or prices, call us in Blue Ball, PA at (717) 354-4971

Get outstanding value in EVERY Eby trailer.

Whether it's a top-of-the-line Ruff Neck or an economical Wrangler, you know your livestock trailer is built to last if it's from Eby.

Aluminum construction is one of the main reasons these trailers are so durable and reliable. They'll never rust through or need welding. In fact, without ever being painted, an Eby livestock trailer will stay looking new for years.

Standard features make your Eby trailer a profitable investment. Extra-heavy axles, brakes, wheels and tires. Thick aluminum sheet flooring. Sturdy posts and rails. Even an aerodynamically designed front end is standard.

And, while standard features make even the economical Eby Wrangler far more than an average economy-model, we custom-build everything we make. So you tell us what you want. Choose from a long list of options. Select those features you need for your particular operation. Whether it's a Wrangler or deluxe Ruff Neck, the trailer you buy will be the trailer you need.

108,000 Birds Total Capacity

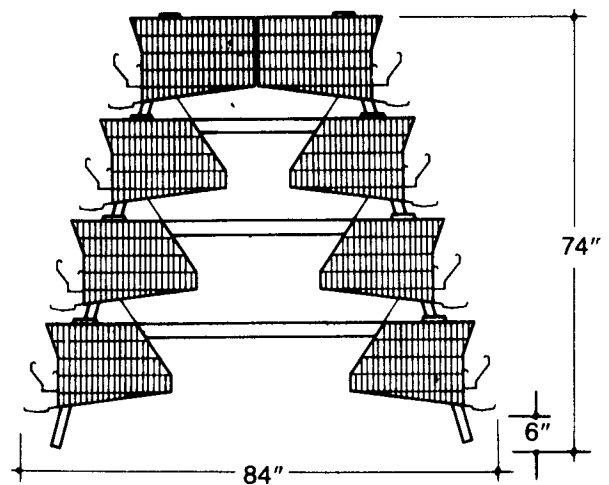

PROFIT-TIER 20 System Features

Big Dutchman has taken its low profile cage and condensed the overall section width to produce the Profit-Tier 20 system. This four tier 84 inch wide system is designed to maximize density in new or existing houses.

The Profit-tier 20 features the Champion Feeding System with in-line feed hoppers with belt or gear motor drive.

Rigid leg frames with feed trough supports provide suspension and maintain proper alignment for the system.

EGG COLLECTING SYSTEMS

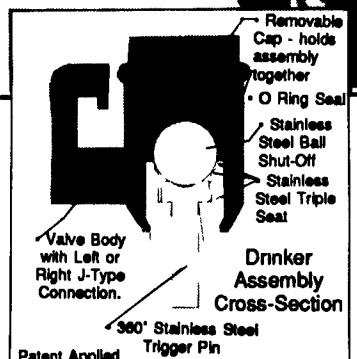

Fingerbelt collector, minimum mechanical egg handling, fewer cracks and checks. Rubber fingers separate eggs and hold them secure on the Fiberbelt incline.

VAL WATERING SYSTEMS

- Drier manure pits and greater freedom from leaks because of the triple seal stainless steel valve seat and low pressure operation.
- Completely enclosed to promote cleanliness and sanitation.

FLAT TIRES WITH

STS® IS AN ADVANCED FIBROUS CHEMICAL COMPOUND THAT

- WILL SEAL PUNCTURES UP TO 3/16"
- WILL STOP SLOW LEAKING TIRES CAUSED BY RUBBER POROSITY
- WILL SEAL RIM AND BEAD LEAKS
- WILL MAINTAIN CONSTANT RECOMMENDED AIR PRESSURE
- WILL PREVENT TIRE AND TUBE ROT
- WILL NEVER HARDEN OR DRY OUT IN THE TIRE
- WILL NOT CORRODE RIMS OR WHEELS
- WILL MAKE A PERMANENT, SOLID REPAIR
- WILL LAST FOR THE LIFE OF THE TIRE

HOW DOES STS® WORK?

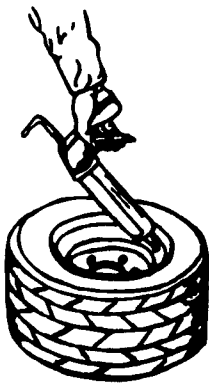

A permanent, effective petroleum based tire sealant that contains thousands of fibers which, when used as a preventive, will seal punctures instantly as they occur and can also be used as a do-it-yourself tire repair. When a puncture occurs, the escaping air forces the carrier and fibers to the penetration, making a solid, permanent repair from the inside — out. Use in tube and tubeless tires.

Rim and bead leaks and chronic slow leaking tires caused by porosity problems with tubeless innerliners will also be sealed quickly and effectively.

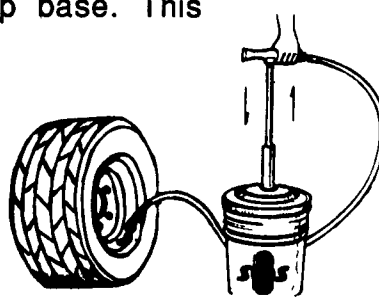

HOW IS STS® INSTALLED?

This extremely effective sealant is easy to install either in the shop or on the job.

To install 8 oz. cartridge with caulking gun... Remove valve stem core. Cut off end of plastic tip on 1/4" mark. Place tube in caulking gun and slip spout over valve stem. Force sealant into tire with caulking gun. Replace valve core and inflate tire to recommended pressure. (Note - any blunt object such as a hammer handle can be used to push plunger instead of a caulking gun).

To install from a 5 gallon pail with the hand pump... Remove valve stem core. Connect the hose assembly coupler to the valve stem. Pull up on pump handle until fully extended. Push down on pump handle until it rests solidly on pump base. This delivers 8 oz. of STS®. Remove coupler from valve stem. Replace valve core and inflate tire to recommended pressure.

HOW TO REPAIR TIRES IN LESS THAN 5 MINUTES

Repair tires on the wheel. Install STS®, inflate tire to proper pressure, position puncture at 6:00 o'clock and bounce the tire and wheel on the floor until the fibers seal the puncture.

You can also repair a tire on the vehicle. Install Safety Tire Seal, re-air the tire with a portable air tank and promptly drive the vehicle or hand spin the tire to allow product to get to punctured area.

LEADERSHIP AT WORK

York Guild To Hold Quilt Show

JOYCE BUPP

York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — After more than two years in the works, the Storm at Sea variation design quilt being stitched by Deb Lawrence is about to put into port.

"Nothing is getting done in my house - meals, cleaning, laundry," laments this York Quilters Guild member.

Looming ahead is the deadline to have the quilt ready for the Guild's second annual "Celebration of Quilts '90," being held April 21 and 22 at the Yorktowne Hotel in downtown York.

Entries from as far away as Montana are among the 127-quilted items entered for judging in the upcoming show. Also on display will be selected quilts, including prized antique creations, from the nationally-known collection of Michigan master quilter Mary Shafer.

Members of the Guild worked together to create a queen-size quilt in shades of mauve, pink and teal which will be awarded at the end of the show, with donations taken to help offset expenses.

The show is a bi-yearly effort of the York Quilter's Guild, with more than 100 members from York and surrounding areas. Like Deb Lawrence, they enjoy the camaraderie and skills support of this shared-interest group of enthusiasts.

A Lancaster native, Deb Lawrence took up quilting after reading a magazine article. With quilting materials and advice both hard to find at that time, she taught herself through trial and error.

"Lots of errors, expensive errors," she adds, able to laugh now at her first overly-ambitious quilt effort. It was a king-size Log Cabin design, sewn by machine. "With each section off by just an eighth-inch, multiplied by several sections, you can imagine what it was like to try to get it right. It was awful."

With her husband's help, the quilt was eventually finished, and used by the family for several years. Since then, she's pieced her quilts only by hand, including the one now frantically being finished for the upcoming show.

"Quilting is useful, relaxing, and lets you experiment with color and design. It's also addictive," chuckles this 15-year-veteran of needle and thread art.

For both veteran and novice quilters, the show planners have scheduled a variety of lectures and demonstrations on quilting techniques. Scheduled for Saturday, April 21, at 11 a.m., original stenciling on quilts; noon, Hawaiian quilting history and how-to; 1 p.m., designing quilts with computers; 2 p.m. quilt strip template (Double Wedding Ring); 3 p.m., machine quilting.

Sunday, April 22, the schedule includes at 11 a.m., designing quilts with computers; noon, quilt strip template (Double Wedding Ring); 1 p.m., machine quilting; 2 p.m., original stenciling on quilts;

3 p.m., Hawaiian quilting history and how-to.

Lecture and demonstrations are included with the admission price, $2.50 for adults, $1.00 for children age 10 and under.

Deb Lawrence stitches her entry for the April 21 and 22 "Celebration of Quilts '90" show, a variation of the Storm at Sea design, in shades of green and white. Stitching pattern for the quilt's center is based on the sailing vessel Pride of Baltimore.

This queen-sized quilt in shades mauve, pink and teal on white will go home with a lucky visitor to the York Quilter's Guild show. Guild members designed and stitched the hand-crafted creation.

Original "Spreading Action"® tines give better coverage at much higher speeds. Adjusts without tools to provide the right penetration for a big variety of jobs!

PASTURES: Increases quality and quantity of feed from pastures. Aerates to stimulate growth and improve moisture penetration. Scatters droppings, reducing parasites. Prepares soil for overseeding without disturbing existing growth. Works in seed and fertilizer. Many owners report pasture yield increases of 15%.

HERBICIDE INCORPORATION: Independent research using black light photography proves the Furerst Harrow behind your disk or cultivator gives you "near perfect" incorporation in one pass--better than implements costing several times more! Shreds trash as it prepares & levels seedbeds.

BROADCASTING SMALL GRAINS AND GRASSES: University of Illinois found overseeding by broadcasting followed by a Furerst Harrow a superior combination, out-performing equipment costing more than 10 times as much. Pulled behind the broadcaster, it covers seed to desired depth in one time-saving operation.

SHREDS STALKS: Shreds and spreads stalks in spring ahead of no-till and ridge-till planting.

Now Is The Time For All Beautiful Dairy Farms To Come To The Aid Of Their Industry

HARRISBURG (Dauphin) — The Northeast Dairy of Distinction farm beautification program rewards clean, well-kept farmsteads to help with consumer acceptance of dairy products in the store.

At the recent annual meeting of the Pennsylvania division here, State Secretary Paul Nichols reported an increase in publicity for dairymen created by the Dairy of Distinction program in 1989.

Again in 1989, Governor Robert Casey declared a Dairy of Distinction week by signing a proclamation that was presented by State Ag Secretary Boyd Wolff at the reception for all winners at Ag Progress Days in August. At that time, LANCASTER FARMING presented color photographs to each Dairy of Distinction winner, too.

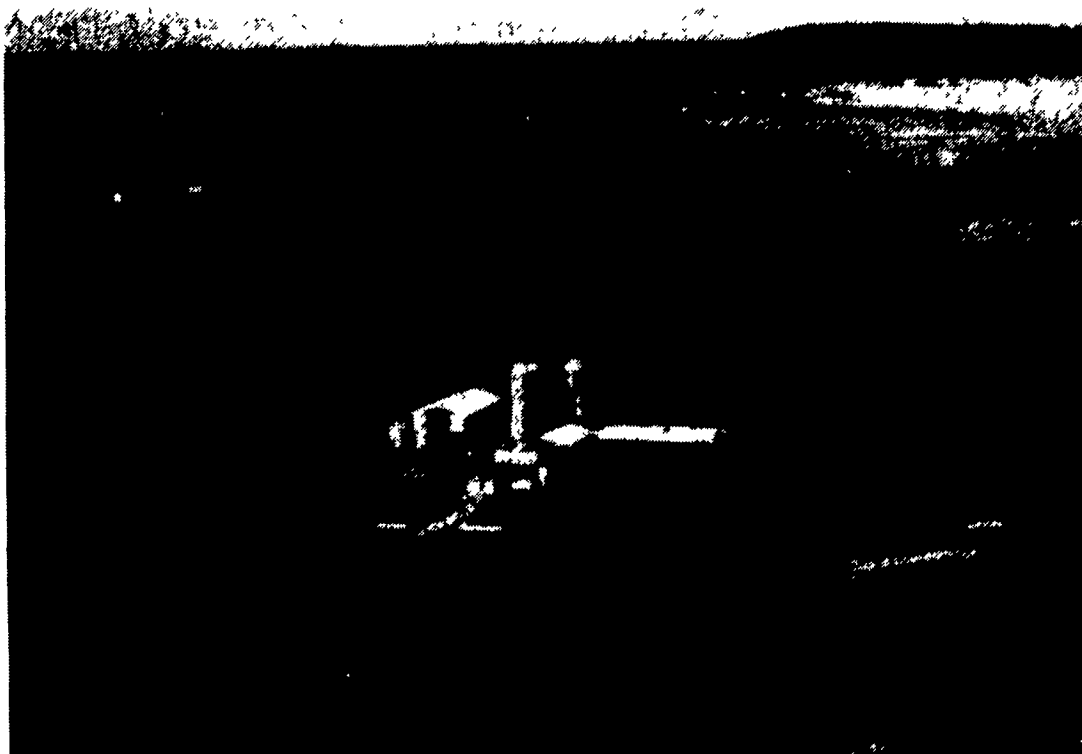

"Since we now have worked on the program for three years, the benefits have started to multiply," Newswanger said. "Not only does the extra favorable publicity in the general press help bring modern farm practices to the attention of urban people, it helps the farmer, too. Many winners use the distinction to promote their own operation or to seek and hire farm labor."

And now is the time when additional dairy farmers may apply for the Dairy of Distinction award. Also farms that had applied in previous years but did not win are eligible to reapply this year. The Dairy of Distinction farms are automatically entered for rejudging along with the new applications to insure each designated farm maintains the standard of excellence required by the program.

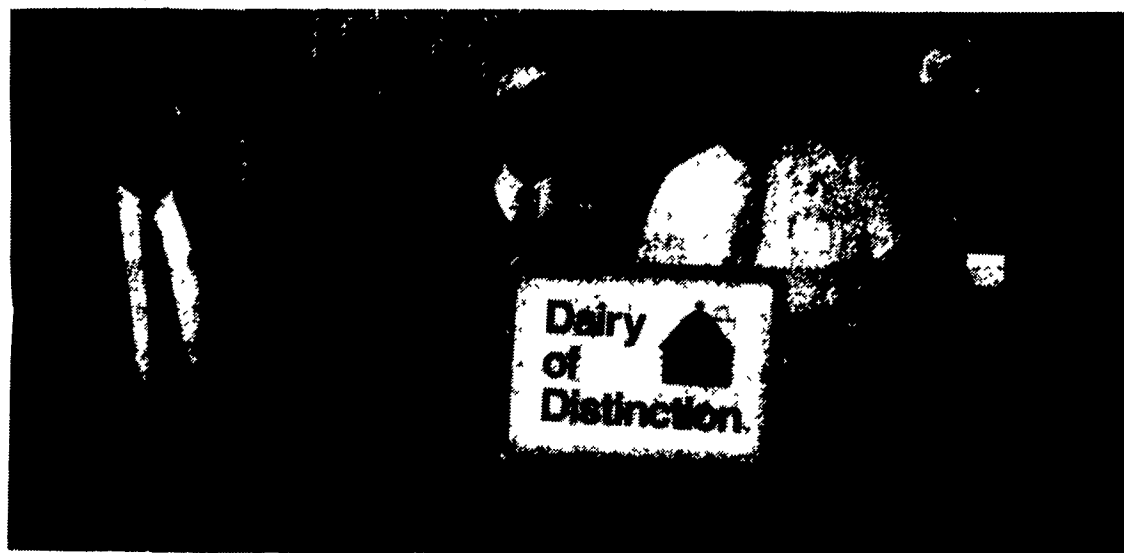

Pennsylvania has been divided into 10 districts. Each district has been designated according to its number of dairy cows. Up to 10 farm awards per district may be given each year. Deadline for entry is April 15.

Judging takes place in the month of May and is based on the roadside appearance of buildings, grounds and surroundings. A local district team of judges visits each farm and uses a score sheet to rate each farm. In the Pennsylvania program, in addition to this team of judges, the sanitarian for the farm's cooperative or dealer-handler will be asked to be part of the judging process.

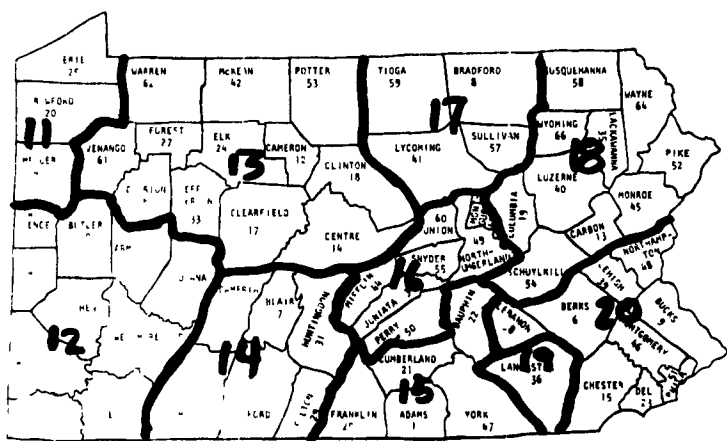

(Deadline For Applications Is April 15, 1990)

Custead-Valley Farm owned by Alan and Rhona Custead and Son Jim, located in Crawford County was one of the Dairy of Distinction farm winners in 1989. New applications for the 1990 judging are now being accepted.

Pennsylvania Districts

Pennsylvania is divided into ten districts. Approximately 10 Dairy of Distinction awards will be made each year in each district. There is no cost to the applicant.

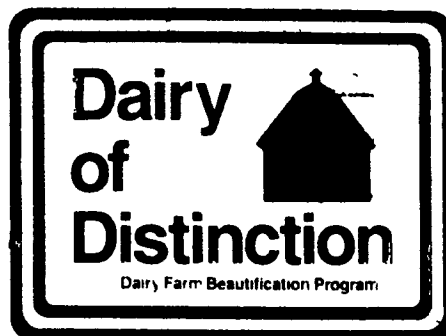

Pennsylvania area chairpersons are:

District 11: David Dowler; District 12: Wally Jackson; District 13: Susan DuJour; District 14: David Hileman; District 15: Sam Maclay; District 16: Bernice Gable; District 17: Kevin Barrett; District 18: Allen Roszel; District 19: Naomi Spahr and District 20: Russell Rooks.

As a winner, you will receive a certificate and a nice metal sign to put at the end of your farm lane. In addition, LANCASTER FARMING will present this year's winners in Pennsylvania with a color portrait print of their farm. If your farm is a winner, be sure you or your district committee takes a color photograph of your farm and sends the negative and proof to LANCASTER FARMING in time for the awards ceremony.

Winners receive a colorful, 18x24-inch Dairy of Distinction sign to be placed at the entrance to the farmstead. In addition, as in past years, an 11x14-inch color portrait of the farm will be given to each winning farm in the Pennsylvania program by LANCASTER FARMING.

The Dairy of Distinction program is a cooperative, widespread industry effort. Sponsors include: milk promotion groups, cooperative extension, State Departments of Agriculture, the Grange, Farm Bureau, producer groups and agribusinesses. The program is run by volunteers at all levels of the organization.

Ethanol, Corn Use Will Increase With Passage Of Act

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Senate's overwhelming approval in the Clean Air Act, which could open the door for greatly increased use of corn-derived ethanol fuel, has been warmly welcomed by leaders of the National Corn Growers Association (NCGA).

One of the provisions of the bill calls for new limits on auto emissions to clean up polluted air in most U.S. cities. In clean air programs currently in effect in Denver, Phoenix, Albuquerque, and Las Vegas, results have shown that a fuel blend of 10 percent ethanol and 90 percent gasoline will reduce carbon monoxide auto emissions by 25 to 30 percent.

"We view the Senate's approval of the Clean Air Act as a win-win situation, where the entire population will benefit from a cleaner environment and the nation's corn growers will benefit from an expanded market for corn," said NCGA President Alan Kemper, a Lafayette, IN corn farmer.

"The Daschle-Dole amendment, approved by the Senate last week, has provided strong guidelines for supplying our nation's drivers with cleaner burning fuels," Kemper said, "and should result in the use of several hundred million more bushels of corn being used to produce ethanol-enriched fuels."

The amendment, co-sponsored by Sen. Tom Daschle (D-SD) and Sen. Bob Dole (R-KS), calls for the increased nationwide use of oxygenated fuels such as ethanol and ETBE, an ethanol derivative, by January 1, 1992 in all reformulated gasolines.

components such as benzene, toluene, and xylene.

Also in the Senate bill is a higher oxygen requirement for gasoline sold in carbon monoxide "non-attainment" cities. This portion of the bill could also boost ethanol usage and demand for corn.

Ethanol industry sources indicate an additional 400 million bushels of corn could be used to produce ethanol for the 10 percent blend and ETBE markets by 1995. These same sources project that a record level of 400 million bushels of corn will be converted into ethanol in 1990 to fulfill current demand.

"If we can double corn use to make ethanol in five short years, America's corn farmers and the U.S. economy will both profit," Kemper said.

Mix and Feed with the Finest

If you're looking for a faster, more efficient way to mix feed and deliver it to your herd, look no further than the complete line-up of TMR mixer feeders available from Gehl.

Ideal for Total Mixed Rations (TMR), Gehl's efficient four-auger design quickly and completely mixes all feed ingredients, including square baled alfalfa hay. A planetary drive system eliminates extra chains and lowers horsepower requirements. And its patented star couplers allow the bottom augers to flex, without shearing pins or damaging the driveline. Trailer-type, truck-mounted or stationary units are available, with capacities ranging from 210 to 500 cubic feet.

Stop by your Gehl dealer today to find out how a new Gehl mixer feeder could profit your farming operation.

A FOOT.

Case Uni-Loader* skid steers not only out dig, out lift, out carry and out load most others - they also take a big load off your feet. That's because speed, direction and all loader functions are controlled by two hand levers. You can maneuver easier and work faster. There are other advantages, too: self-leveling loaders, simple external chain-tension adjustment, separate hydraulic and chain/sprocket oil systems reduce maintenance and downtime. Let your hands do the working with a Case Uni-Loader skid steer - the easy way to get a handle on tough chores.

Check Your Silo Now For Rotten
 Staves. If You Have Been Using Your Silo For 10 To 15 Years For Either Corn Silage Or Haylage, It Is Time To SHOTCRETE.

WARNING!
 DETERIORATING CONCRETE FROM CORN JUICE!

If you have a 15 year old silo get it fixed or insure it better!
 But don't wait until the last minute to have it repaired because we may not be able to fix it if you wait too long.
 REMEMBER your silo will not fail over when it's empty - it will fall over when it's full. It cannot stand on deteriorated concrete...

"Consider The Concrete Advantages"

3. Roof - The standard aluminized steel roof provides extra extra storage while also protecting the unloader and silage.
4. Concrete Chute - A solid 4" steel reinforced concrete chute is an integral part of the structure. This strong, durable chute has roomy inside dimensions of 24" wide and 28" deep. Also included is a side door for easy chute access.
5. Doors - The door system is an exclusive feature of Sollenberger Silos. The large 24" wide by 30" high door gives easy access to the silo. Doors are made of double ply, epoxy stapled, center matched, California Redwood for longer life and greater strength. Independently operating doors swing in and out for full use of the door opening. When closed, the doors form 16" steps for easy climbing.
6. Outside Ladder - With Safety Cage - Galvanized steel steps are cast directly into the silo wall, making an absolutely permanent, rigid ladder. Steps are conveniently spaced for safe, easy climbing.
7. Chute Dormer - This weather and rustproof aluminized steel dormer provides dry and protected access from the chute to the silo.
8. Filling Platform - Firmly attached to the silo, this 38" deep platform has a tilting bottom, allowing easy access to the platform.

1. Sollenberger Monolithic Silo - Solid 6" steel reinforced concrete walls are made of quality controlled 4,000 P.S.I. concrete. Smooth uniform diameter walls are ideal for optimum unloader operations. Greater strength and acid resistance gives you many extra years of service.
2. Reinforcing Steel - The reinforcing steel for every Sollenberger Silo is designed by a registered professional engineer, and in all cases meets or exceeds the standards set by the International Silo Association. 60,000 P.S.I. steel is placed both horizontally and vertically directly in the center of the wall where it is protected from weather and silage juices.

POULTRY AND RABBIT PROJECTS NEED ADVISORS

Herbert C. Jordan
Associate Professor Department of Poultry Science

If you enjoy children, love nature, and want to help kids make excellent use of leisure time, volunteer to be an advisor of poultry, rabbit, or embryology projects in your county.

4-H turkey projects are mostly in Clearfield and Venango counties, where a member can raise 25 turkeys or as few as one turkey if facilities are limited.

4-H backyard poultry projects flourish in 35 counties with Lehigh and Bucks counties leading the state.

4-H layer flock management projects earn net income in eight counties with Cambria and Montgomery counties leading the state.

4-H chick rearing projects are in 10 counties with Mifflin and Northampton counties leading.

The egg marketing project is present in Mifflin County.

4-H rabbit projects and pet projects using rabbits flourish in 50 counties in Pennsylvania. Beaver County is a state leader in the 4-H rabbit project and Bucks County is a leader in the 4-H pet project.

4-H embryology, mostly in the fourth and fifth grade classroom setting, has 51 counties enrolled. Philadelphia County is a leader.

43,419 4-H members completed poultry and rabbit projects in 1989. About 1,200 teachers are 4-H embryology advisors in the classroom.

(NOTE: Leadership of counties in this article refers only to quantity or number of 4-H members enrolled; size and length of project as well as other qualitative parameters are not measured.)

4-H adult advisors or leaders are needed for traditional animal projects. All poultry and rabbit projects need leadership, so volunteer by calling your county cooperative extension office and ask to speak to the agent in charge of 4-H programs.

You will make children very happy and parents pleased with their children. Your greatest contribution will be to improve the future of our young Pennsylvania citizens.

MADISON, WI — Johne's disease testing and eradication were the main topics of discussion at a Johne's Disease Symposium held March 28, 1990, in Syracuse, New York.

The meeting was sponsored by the Livestock Conservation Institute; Diagnostic Laboratory, New York State College of Veterinary Medicine; New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets; New York State Veterinary Medical Society; and the American Association of Bovine Practitioners.

The meeting was held for producers, veterinarians, and agribusiness representatives located in the New York, Pennsylvania, and New England areas. A similar meeting was held in Wisconsin last year, and plans are in the works to hold another meeting in Ohio next year, according to Dr. Donald Lein, director, Diagnostic Laboratory, New York State College of Veterinary Medicine.

A new culturing protocol developed through research by Dr. Sang Shin, director, bacteriology laboratory, Diagnostic Laboratory, New York State College of Veterinary Medicine, and his co-workers that inhibits fecal contaminants from rapidly overgrowing the cultures, thereby allowing the much slower growing paratuberculosis organisms to develop into identifiable colonies, has improved fecal culture tests, according to Dr. Mike Brunner, extension veterinarian.

"Testing under the previous protocol often resulted in at least half of the samples being unreadable. The new system provides a readable result on almost every sample. Furthermore, most results are now available approximately one month sooner, since culture positive samples are usually identifiable by 6-10 weeks, and culture negative results can now be established by 12 weeks. These improvements have made herd testing considerably more accurate and useful," said Brunner.

In the area of DNA probe testing, the IDEXX Corporation, Portland, Maine has a commercially available DNA probe test which has the ability to produce reliable results in 18 hours, according to Lisa Crosby, product manager, IDEXX Corporation.

"The IDEXX probe DNA test kit for Mycobacterium paratuberculosis (Johne's Disease) is based on a known repetitive DNA sequence specific to Mycobacterium paratuberculosis. A set of synthetic DNA molecules based on this sequence are used to amplify and detect the sequences in the sample, thus confirming the presence of Johne's disease," said Crosby.

Dr. Mike Brunner, extension veterinarian, had the following recommendations for controlling Johne's Disease in cattle:

- All animals shedding M. paratuberculosis (fecal culture positive) and all animals which develop clinical disease, as well as their latest offspring, should be sent to slaughter or segregated to separate facilities.

- Isolate animals with signs consistent with Johne's disease (persistent diarrhea or weight loss) until cause is determined.

- Herd additions should only be made from herds unlikely to be infected with paratuberculosis or from paratuberculosis tested negative herds. All additions should be tested by fecal culture immediately upon entering the herd.

- Stop transmission of the infection to young animals. This requires evaluating and modifying management practices to eliminate any opportunities where young stock can have any direct contact with, or probably more importantly, could accidentally ingest manure from adult cows.

- Artificial insemination with semen from Johne's negative bulls should be used in the herd.

- While vaccination may reduce the prevalence of clinical Johne's disease, vaccines alone will not eliminate the paratuberculosis organism from infected animals nor will they prevent the organism from spreading to other uninfected animals.

A panel of three New York dairy farmers discussed their experiences of eradicating Johne's disease from their herds. The three farmers utilized some or all of the above recommendations in their successful Johne's disease control or eradication plan.

"Producers are the key to develop Johne's disease control programs. They have to work in cooperation with state and federal personnel to develop regulations that will lead to the control and eradication of Johne's disease," said John H. Lang, president, Livestock Conservation Institute.

Poultry Queen Honored

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Lancaster County representatives John E. Barley and Kenneth E. Brandt presented Pennsylvania's 1989-90 Poultry Queen, Anita Kristine Meck, with a citation for her work in promoting the Commonwealth's poultry industry.

"Agriculture is Pennsylvania's number one industry and poultry is the second largest agricultural enterprise," said Barley, a member of the House Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee.

"Pennsylvania's $500 million poultry industry ranks third in table egg production, eighth in turkey production, and eleventh in broiler production. Our poultry industry continues to help feed the United States and the world," he said.

"In 1950, chicken cost 60 cents per pound. Had it risen at the same rate as the Consumer Price Index, chicken would have cost about $3 per pound today. However, the current average price is only 90 cents per pound," Barley said.

"It is important to recognize individuals, like Anita, who are working hard to represent Pennsylvania's agricultural products," said Brandt, Republican chairman of the Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee.

Meck, who was crowned at the Aug. 4 Lancaster County Poultry Queen Pageant, has been making public appearances around the state during her 1989-1990 reign, promoting poultry products for the Pennsylvania industry. A 1989 graduate of Lampeter-Strasburg High School, Meck is listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students," and was Future Farmers of America (FFA)

Meck, a freshman at Millersville University, resides on her family's farm, which raises beef, swine, and 100,000 pullets annually.

CVC Holds Dairy Meeting

Master Mix salesman from Biglerville; Dr. Donald Jaquette, Central Soya's dairy nutritionist, Decatur, Ind.; Jeff Tyson, area sales manager for Church and Dwight Co. Inc., Elizabethtown; and Jan Kloesmeyer, CVC feed consultant from Mechanicsburg.

Door prizes were won by Donald Shetter, Shippensburg; one 50-pound Master Mix silage preservative; Lenard Leo, Carlisle, one new calf Scout treatment; and Herb Dice, Chambersburg, one 50-pound Megilac.

The Cumberland Valley Cooperative branches are located in Chambersburg, Newville, Longsdorf, Mechanicsburg, and the fertilizer plant and main mill at Shippenburg.

LISA: Good Program, Bad Name

By Dr. Richard Barczewski
Agricultural Agent
University of Delaware

LISA, an acronym for low-input sustainable agriculture, has taken some bashing recently from some pretty influential people. Apparently someone in Washington thought that the acronym was great and put an official stamp of approval on it. This was a mistake because of what the name implies.

At a meeting last winter, one speaker said that low-input agriculture is the same as low-output agriculture. I agree with this philosophy to a certain extent; however, that is not what LISA is all about. In fact, the person who came up with the acronym really missed the point.

LISA is actually an attempt to end the flagrant overuse of fertilizers and pesticides. While it is true that this may result in lower inputs, it by no means implies that the levels of inputs will be low. There is a difference.

The extension service has always maintained that inputs need to be placed on a crop -- whether it is corn, beans or hogs -- only to the level at which the cost inputs balance with the economic return. For example, if a hog producer found out that incorporating a new ingredient into the feed would boost daily gains by 10 percent and improve feed efficiency by 5 percent, resulting in a net financial gain of $5 over the feeding period, it would be the producer's advantage to include it. If the same progress, however, failed to yield a net gain, then the producer would not implement it.

This is what LISA means. In the matter of field crops, the addition of extra fertilizer doesn't always result in a yield response. Sometimes the extra cost associated with the fertilizer cannot be returned by expected yield increases, making the application of additional fertilizer a bad business decision.

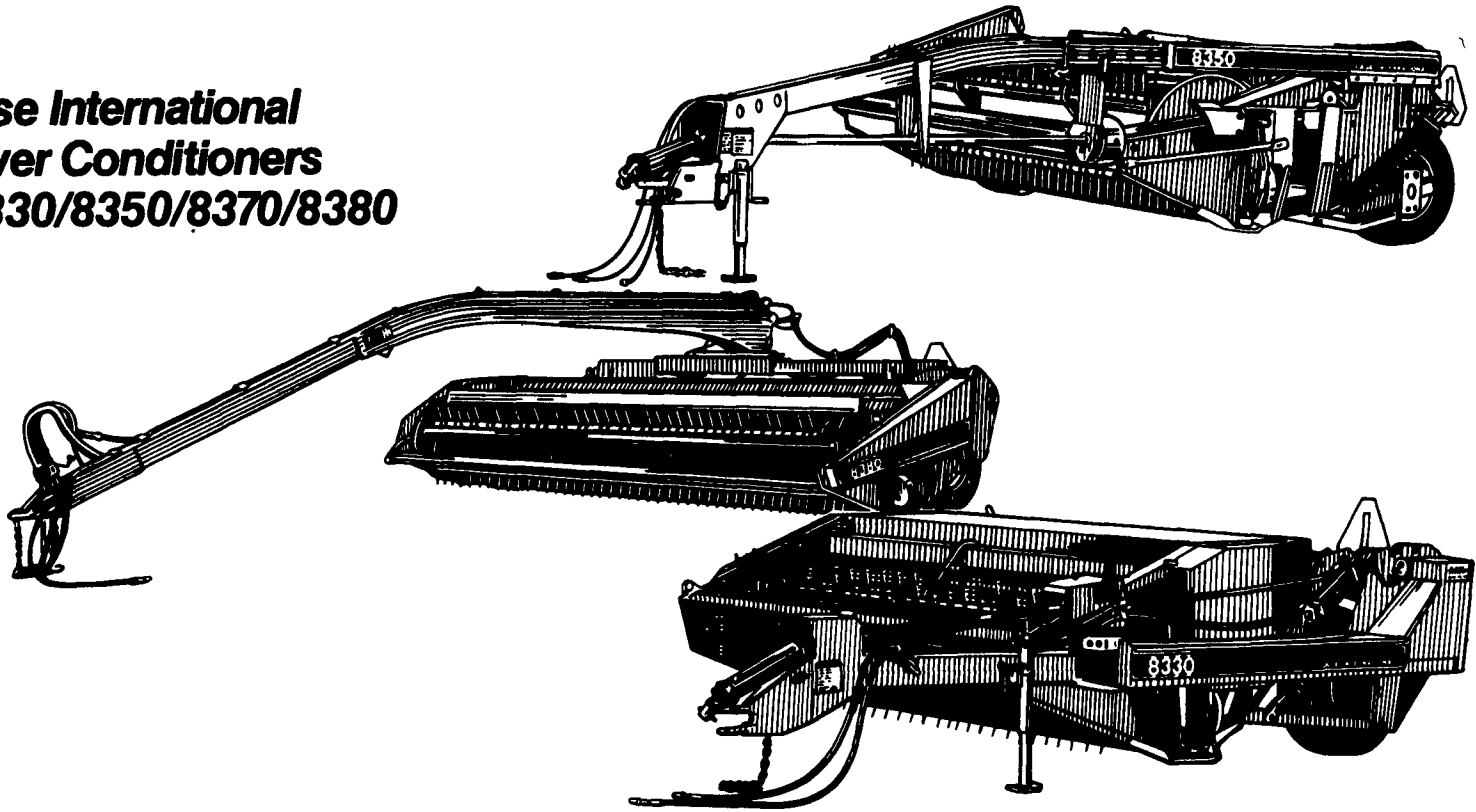

The land-grant university system was established in part to conduct research that provides farmers with information and data to make the best decisions on how much fertilizer, pesticides, feed additives, etc., to use. A few farmers don't adhere to the recommendations, however, and apply excess fertilizer, use routine spraying, and provide additional supplementation in feeding programs.

Environmental concern is the issue for the 1990s. The public will no longer stand for the flagrant over-fertilization, which

8320/8330/8350/8370/8380

With five Case IH Mower Conditioners to choose from, there's no need to compromise. Now you can select the model that meets your hay harvesting needs exactly.

Every model cuts clean and fast. Continuously engaged rolling action is aggressive when the crop calls for it, yet gentle when you want to save valuable protein-rich leaves. Adjustable full-length rolls on the 8320 and 8330 leave loose, fluffy swaths or windrows.

Unique "uniform motion" crank linkage and counter-balanced flywheel make for a smoother-running conditioner with less peak start and stop loads.

Also on the larger models:

- Half-swaybar sickle drive operates at a fast 1700 rpm

- 12-foot cuts produce fast-drying 9-foot swaths for increased productivity
- Wheel assemblies counterbalanced for outstanding vertical/radial flotation
- In-seat hydraulic control of tongue from field to road position

On the 8370 and 8380:

- Center-mounted pivot hitch allows for easy right/left side positioning of header so you can cut from one side of the field
- Hydrostatic header drives eliminate the PTO shaft
- Wide 14- and 16-foot cuts respectively
- Two-sickle system on 8380 cuts at 1800 spm for superior productivity could result in pollution of our groundwater. American citizens won't allow excessive use of pesticides that can leach into the ground or run off into surface waters, nor will they tolerate pesticide residues in their foods.

This may mean that some commodities will be more expensive, with the net gain being realized by the environment. If consumers demand it, we'll have to do it or go out of business.

Many LISA opponents dislike what LISA implies; I don't like the name either. Farmers have learned from years of experience that low inputs may reduce their competitive edge in the marketplace. What we must strive for is economical inputs, those we know will benefit our bottom line while increasing the marketability of our products.

Agriculture is undergoing a metamorphosis. Government programs will play a primary role in determining future directions. Anyone who follows trends will agree that we as a nation are becoming more environmentally aware. This does not mean that farmers are the sole source of our problems on this front, but there is room for improvement on some farms.

We've been implementing some of the LISA programs such as nutrient management and integrated pest management. Others will follow, offering realistic economic advantages like the two I've mentioned.

I only wish the person who came up with LISA would go back to the drawing board and come up with a better acronym.

Grazers Meeting

Tom Calvert and Jesse Council will be featured speakers at a special "Grazers Meeting" to be held on Monday, April 16, 1990, at 7:30 p.m. in the extension office, Beaver.

At this meeting, Calvert will lead a discussion of pasture management plans and maximizing pasture yields. It will also include information about intensive grazing and overcoming pasture problems. The goal is to help producers manage pastures for higher yields.

Federal Income Withholding Tax Required

Starting January 1, 1990, farm employers must withhold federal income tax from employees.

Employers will have to keep on file a completed form W-4 and I-9 for each employee. W-4 determines the employee's dependent status and I-9 is proof of citizenship. Employers must also use IRS Circular E for proper withholding rates. These forms can be obtained by calling IRA toll-free at 1-800-424-FORM.

Larry Jenkins, PSU farm management specialist, indicated that the Pennsylvania income tax law requires that farm employers also withhold state income tax.

Up to now this has not been enforced. However, expect this to change now that the federal requirement has changed.

No Till Drills

Penn State is again making the no-till drill available to farmers this spring. There is a charge of $5 per acre.

This drill will be available to Beaver County farmers in late April. Request forms and details are available in the county extension office.

The conservation district has also purchased a no-till drill to be used by Beaver County farmers. Information and details about this drill are available in the conservation district office, 774-7090.

Selecting Corn Hybrids

If you're a corn grower, selecting the corn hybrids you plant next spring is one of the most important management decisions you will make. Because of this, it pays to spend some time and make careful choices based on a well-planned strategy. Important factors to consider in your strategy include maturity, standability, disease resistance, yield potential, and cold tolerance. Also, you need to consider how you're planning to harvest the crop.

To help you make your decisions, accumulate some information such as the Pennsylvania Commercial Hybrid Corn Test Reports (available at your county extension office), local hybrid strip plot results, or seed company information.

Enterotoxemia is a Lamb Killer

Enterotoxemia is an important cause of death in baby lambs in Washington County.

Baby lambs which come down with enterotoxemia, or overeating disease, may die suddenly and have no definite lesions on post-mortem examination.

Older lambs being fed for market may become sluggish and show a wobbly gait. Some of them may be sick for several days before they die.

The best way to prevent enterotoxemia in baby lambs is to have the ewes vaccinated with enterotoxemia vaccine at least two weeks before lambing. This vaccine is known as Colstridium perfringens type B and D toxoid. Lambs may be vaccinated at two weeks and again at four weeks of age.

Lambs to be fitted for shows or sales or heavy feeding of grain should be vaccinated again at least two weeks before they are placed on full feed. Bring them onto full feed gradually.

The vaccination against enterotoxemia is economical insurance against a disease which often kills the best lambs in a flock.

Controlling Multiflora Rose in Pasture -- A Winter Job

Basal bark applications are normally made in the late winter or early spring before leaf buds begin to expand.

The herbicide is applied to the crown and lower 12" of the stems to the point of runoff. Diesel fuel is used as a carrier in order to improve penetration of the bark. Applications should be made when the bark is dry to improve spray retention.

these treatments, including:

- Frequently more consistent than foliar treatments.
- Farmers are not tied up with other field work at this time.
- Many of the treatments are relatively inexpensive.
- Disadvantage of these treatments is they leave the applicator vulnerable to applications.

If the area is heavily infested with large roses, a person can get torn apart trying to get close enough with the spray nozzle to treat the crowns.

Ester forms of 2,4-D or Cross-bow can be used in pastures as basal bark treatments. A 3-4 percent solution of the herbicide in diesel fuel is normally recommended.

Some growers may prefer to use a brush hog to clean up a pasture. Basal bark treatments can be used to treat the mowed off crown and effectively prevent resprouting.

This is a very effective means of controlling the rose since it opens up the pasture for efficient grazing.

Spot concentrate treatments, such as the basal bark treatment, are also made in the dormant season. Currently, Bavel is the only product. Spot concentrate applications involve applying a measured amount of undiluted Bavel directly to the soil within 6-8 inches of the crown.

Precise application is the key to effective control. Spot-gun applicators are available, which are attached directly to the herbicide.

Aerotech Introduces Fan Accessories

DES MOINES, Iowa — A new line of 9" to 24" variable-speed, direct drive fans — redesigned to increase reliability, simplified installation and offer more value — has been introduced by Aerotech, Inc.

The flat panels, with pre-drilled mounting holes, permit quick, easy, do-it-yourself flush mounting for neat, clean installations and weather stripping.

The cast aluminum airfoil propellers, with AeroFlow™ tip to reduce vortex turbulence, won't rust or corrode. They are also individually balanced to ensure smooth, efficient operation.

Swine producers have a choice of economical galvanized panels or panels bonded with a tough, thermopolymer coating for use in corrosive environments. The coating also dampens noise and vibration and contains UV blockers to prevent weathering.

The extra deep, large-radius venturi extends beyond the propeller to smooth and speed airflow through the fan with greater efficiency.

All hardware for the galvanized fan units is zinc-plated for corrosion resistance. Hardware for the thermopolymer-coated fan units is stainless steel for corrosion protection.

Aerotech direct drive fans come in five sizes, 9", 14", 16", 18" and 24". Each fan is field tested under real-life operating conditions to ensure full rated performance.

For more information, contact Aerotech, Inc., 929 Terminal Road, Lansing, MI 48906, (800) 227-AERO or (517) 323-2930.

Coulters Reduce Fertilizer Use

PEORIA, Ill. — With the introduction of its new deep placement fertilizer coulters, Yetter Manufacturing Co. now offers a complete selection of liquid, dry, and suspension fertilizer coulter.

All are designed to reduce fertilizer use by efficient placement for maximum uptake by the growing plants. They are ideal for pre-plant, starter fertilizer, and side dressing.

The new 20" 2976 Series, designed for toolbar application, is a parallel linkage model that places fertilizer alongside and below the root zone with pinpoint accuracy. Except for size, Yetter's smaller 2975 Series is virtually identical, and is designed for use with planters.

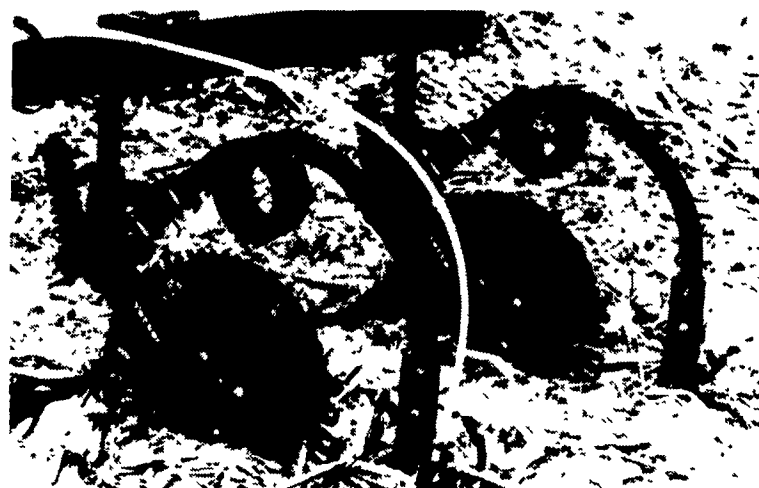

In each, parallel linkage permits the coulters to ride over rough ground while holding the knife at the proper attitude and depth. The exception of the parallel linkage feature, the Yetter 2990 Series has the same features as the 2975 Series.

The 2920 Series NH₃ coulters are equipped with a unique pivot arrangement to protect the 20" blade and narrow knife from damage while injecting anhydrous deeper into the soil where volatilization loss is minimized.

Yetter fertilizer coulter, designed for conventional or conservation tillage, are available for most popular planters, toolbar applicators, grain drills, and row crop cultivators.

Details on the complete Yetter coulters line are available at all Yetter dealers or by calling (800) 447-5777 outside IL or (800) 325-7165, or by writing Yetter Manufacturing Co., Colchester, IL 62326-0358.

At the HSC recognition ceremonies held recently in Kohala Coast, Hawaii, Steve and Sue Shipman were recognized by company executives for Shipman's outstanding sales in 1989. In all, 46 sales managers and agronomists throughout the U.S. were honored at HSC.

"Shipman achieved his success by delivering a high level of service to growers and dealers in the district," said Don Jacoby, vice president of sales for the field crops division, in awarding the special plaque and member's ring. "He helped farmers maximize profits by matching Northrup King products to their particular

New High-Speed Hay Mower From Bush Hog

MOBILE, Ala. — Bush Hog has introduced a completely new disc hay mower designed for high speed, quality forage production.

"The new Bush Hog DM series disc hay mowers fill the growing need for an easily maintained hay mower that operates well at speeds up to 10 miles per hour," said Robert O. Moore, vice president, sales. "Our engineers have designed a unique hay mower that is easy to use, easy to maintain, and built to last."

The cutterbar is protected by "an easily reset mechanism rather than shearbolts for protection at high speeds," Moore said. Tripping load is set with a spring adjustment and can be easily reset without leaving the tractor seat.

The cutterbar is driven with a large 3/4" reversible hex shaft for longer life. The modules are a one-piece design (no spacer required) for extra strength, reducing the chances for damage from field objects. It will cut 45 degrees up and 45 degrees down.

Bush Hog's hay mower offers more hitch choices than any other on the market. It fits Category I and II standard. Category II quick hitch capability can be added, as an industry first for fast hookup.

The Bush Hog-designed gearbox features two bevel gear sets, rated at 55 hp.

Equipped with oval cutting discs, the mower features two reversible blades with a 5" cutting overlap. Disc guards, crop divider, skid shoes, and a parking stand are standard equipment.

The Bush Hog disc hay mower is available in 6' 10", 7' 11" and 9' 4" widths in 5, 6 and 7-disc models. It is recommended for 40-100 hp tractors.

Control Potato Beetle Naturally

ROANOKE, Va. — Dragon Corporation of Roanoke, Virginia, now offers a new natural pesticide product for control of the Colorado potato beetle (Leptinotarsa decemlineata).

Dragon will market Mycogen Corporation's insecticide (Bacillus Thuringiensis var. san diego) as DRAGON Colorado Potato Beetle Pre-Adult Control, within Dragon's established distribution area east of the Mississippi River.

This product is a natural biocide for control of garden damage caused by the Colorado potato beetle, which has developed a resistance to many chemical pesticides in recent years. Also known as the "potato bug," this insect pest can devastate potato, tomato, eggplant, and pepper plantings. Small plants are most severely damaged by both adult and larvae, which devour plant leaves and stems.

DRAGON Colorado Potato Beetle Pre-Adult Control is effective when applied during the early larval stages of insect development. After eating the treated foliage, the insects immediately stop feeding. Death usually occurs 1-5 days later. The product is available in an 8 oz. size for home garden use through established Dragon distributors throughout the eastern United States.

Headquartered in Roanoke, Virginia, Dragon Corporation is involved primarily in the production and distribution of home lawn and garden products, including pesticides, herbicides, and fertilizers.

'Ever Clutch' On L-Series Tractors

COMPTON, Calif. — Kubota Tractor Corporation introduces its new L-Series tractors, the L2650DT-W, L2950DT-W, L3450DT-W and L3650DT-W 4WD.

They are the first compact tractors with "Ever Clutch," designed to greatly extend clutch life. Kubota stands behind the "Ever Clutch" with a three-year/1,500-hour warranty on the clutch packs.

These new direct-injection diesel tractors feature horsepower ranging from 23.5 to 33 PTO. The tractors are designed for powerful, easy use by professional contractors, as well as in light construction, nurseries, grounds maintenance and agricultural applications.

The "Ever Clutch" is a true wet clutch, with a steady stream of filtered hydraulic oil which flows through eight separate discs and pressure plates to keep the "Ever Clutch" cool while reducing friction. This path provides superior heat radiation characteristics that virtually eliminate clutch slippage and seizure, resulting in more reliable operation with limited or no downtime because of overheating or disc wear.

The new LA450 and LA650 front loaders offer increased lift capacities over previous models, and move more material and lift heavier loads with shorter cycle times. Other compatible implements are available for mowing and tilling applications.

Additional features, such as the F8/R8 mechanical shuttle transmission, power steering, spacious operator's area, reverse air cooling, underhood muffler, and the Easy Checker™ panel are designed to improve overall performance, increase operator ease, lower maintenance needs, and increase longevity.

Grain Drills Assure Accurate Seed Placement

RACINE, Wis. — Case International grain drills have been improved to assure more accurate seed placement and reduce traditional drilling problems.

One model is a minimum-till mounted drill that seeds in heavy crop residues and hard soils, said Denny Otto, JI Case implement product manager.

The new 5300, 5400, and 6300 conventional models have a stronger opener drawbar. "This improved feature eliminates side-draft problems which often lead to inaccurate seed placement," according to Otto.

The metal opener boot has been replaced by a tough nylon boot. "The flexibility of the nylon boot inhibits soil buildup in moist conditions, ensuring that disc openers continue to slice open a seed trench for proper seed placement," Otto said.

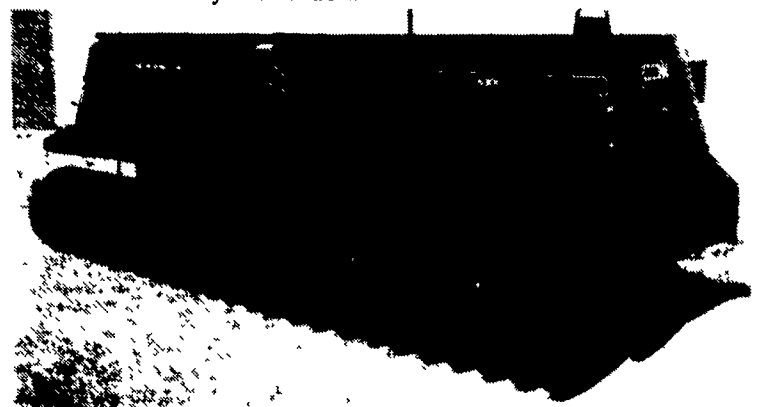

"Heavier bearings in all disc openers and press wheels add to the drills' durability and reliability, especially the 6300 press wheel drill. The 6300 also has a new dual-caster wheel," he said.

The minimum-till 5400 mounted drill is available in 15- and 20-foot seeding widths and features a single-lever, depth-setting adjustment. There is a choice of the standard 3x13-inch press wheel or an optional 1x12-inch press wheel. Two down-pressure springs exert up to 240 pounds of down-pressure on each drill opener compared to the typical drill with only one spring per opener.

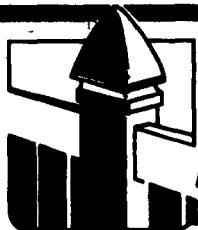

"These changes were made in response to customer feedback and the environmental benefits of minimum tillage," Otto said.

Some things haven't changed, Otto indicated. Case International grain drills continue to be built with metal feed cups that offer greater reliability and durability than plastic feed cups used by other manufacturers, according to the company.

The new Case IH 5300, 5400, and 6300 conventional grain drills have a stronger opener drawbar. The metal opener boot has been replaced by a tough nylon boot. The 6300 also has a new dual-caster wheel.

Fermenta AB Retains Dillon, Read

MENTOR, Ohio — Sweden-based Fermenta AB today announced that it has retained Dillon, Read & Co. Inc. to conduct the sale of its U.S.-headquartered subsidiaries, Fermenta Animal Health and SDS Biotech Corporation (including Fermenta ASC and Ricerca, Inc.).

In 1989, the U.S. subsidiaries reported record profitability on aggregate revenues of $258 million.

Fermenta said the decision to sell its U.S. operations is precipitated by new Swedish tax laws affecting the use of tax loss carryforwards.

Dillon, Read will immediately begin to contact potential buyers for the U.S. operations. A prospectus will be made available to interested parties by mid-April. The company's objective is to complete the sale of its U.S. operations before the end of 1990.

SDS Biotech includes Fermenta ASC Corporation, which produces and markets crop protection chemicals, industrial biocides, wood preservative products, and specialty chemicals. SDS Biotech also includes Ricerca, Inc., which is a contract research company providing services worldwide to chemical and related industries.

SDS Biotech and Fermenta ASC are based in Mentor, Ohio, and Ricerca is based in Concord Township, Ohio.

Fermenta Animal Health produces and markets a broad range of antibiotics, pharmaceuticals, insecticides, and biological products for the animal health industry and is based in Kansas City, Missouri. The companies have approximately 1,000 employees worldwide.

W. Va. SCS Helps On Earth Day

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—When Earth Day comes April 22 and is followed by National Volunteer Week April 22-28, the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) in West Virginia will celebrate them together.

SCS, A U.S. Department of Agriculture agency, has helped West Virginians conserve soil and water since 1935. Since 1985 it has recruited volunteers into its Earth Team.

In West Virginia, 229 individuals and three groups have donated thousands of unpaid hours to help SCS assist land users, according to Rollin N. Swank, state conservationist.

"During this period of federal budget cuts," Swank said, "Earth Team members have helped us fill a void."

Volunteers at Glenville, Philippi, and Morgantown show why Earth Team members work without pay from SCS.

Glenna Moyers was an older unemployed worker needing new job skills. She was employed at a minimum wage by the Central

West Virginia Agency on Aging to learn office work at the SCS office in Glenville, starting last April 25.

Because she is paid by the state agency, SCS counts her as a volunteer. She works 20 hours a week. The program prepares her to go to a full-time office job.

"All that I have done here has been new," Moyers said. "I had not filed, typed, or done computer work before."

About her supervisor, Glenville district conservationist Beth Ann Finlay, Moyers said, "She is very dedicated to her work and to having you do your work well."

Maurice Allman of Philippi served as coordinator of the West-Mon-Ty resource conservation and development area from its creation in 1972 until he retired in 1983. Since 1988, he has volunteered a thousand hours on RC&D projects in communities from Weston to Hillsboro.

In the SCS state office at Morgantown, four students work as unpaid volunteers. Dan Hively, a high school senior, gets educational credit from computer teacher Cynthia Zawojski at Monongalia County Vo-Tech School for his SCS computer work. So does Jude Vavrock, mother of three, taking a computer course at the same school and working without pay at SCS to gain experience for a job.

Some students volunteer on their own. Veronica Cyphert, a junior at Morgantown High School, works one afternoon a week. Sherri Eddy, a Clay-Battelle High School student, volunteers two hours. She had been a business trainee at the SCS office out of the county vo-tech school.

"We have volunteers in all sections of the state," said Swank. "Anyone who wants to join the Earth Team can contact an SCS office or a soil conservation district for details."

Join W. Va. Earth Team

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—If you want to do something for Earth Day on April 22 and the days after that, join the Earth Team in West Virginia -- a group of volunteers assisting the Soil Conservation Service (SCS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

SCS gives technical assistance to persons, groups, and other governmental bodies who use and own the land. Volunteers also help with construction and reclamation projects. SCS builds dams and improves channels for flood prevention and it reclaims old coal mines under the Rural Abandoned

Mine Program (RAMP).

Earth Team members can only do the jobs SCS employees do. That means no physical labor, but surveying, planning, filing, photography, and computerized tasks -- data entry, drafting, writing, and some engineering functions.

As are SCS employees, volunteers are protected against personal lawsuits for their governmental actions, and they may be compensated for any injuries sustained on the job.

"The only difference between our employees and Earth Team members," said Rollin N. Swank, SCS state conservationist, "is that our employees are paid."

Volunteers fit in best with SCS who offer continuity of work.

PFU Strives To Improve Dairy In Farm Bill

HARRISBURG, (Dauphin Co.) — Members of the Pennsylvania and New York State Farmers Union were in Washington, D.C. to improve the dairy portion of the 1990 Farm Bill.

Allen Deiter, president of PFU, said, "It's obvious that many members of Congress have been misinformed regarding condition on our dairy farms."

Deiter said, "While milk prices paid to dairy farmers did reach an all-time high last fall, Arden Tewksbury, staff member of PFU, is estimating by June of 1990 milk prices will be down to $11 per cwt., which is a $4 per cwt. decline in six months' time."

Deiter said many Congressmen were amazed at PFU figures and certainly many of the Congressmen were even annoyed about being misinformed by other farm organizations.

Members of Farmers Union met with several key members of Congress from Pennsylvania and New York, including congressmen Joe McDade, Paul Kanjorski, Tom Ridge, John Murtha, Gus Yatron and Jim Walsh from New York state. The group also met with some of the key dairy subcommittee members. Congressman Harold Volkner, Democrat from Missouri, carried many of PFU's ideas to the subcommittee on Tuesday, April 3.

The PFU's office announced today that the dairy subcommittee did mark up the dairy provision of the 1990 Farm Bill and it goes to the final House Agriculture Committee.

Arden Tewksbury, from PFU's office, said, "It's always difficult to determine what really happens at these mark-up sessions." PFU's analysis is:

- Congressman Volkner's amendment to set the milk support price at $10.60 in place of $10.10 passed.

- After the Commodity Credit Cooperative purchases 7 billion pounds of milk equivalent, then the secretary of agriculture must initiate a two-tier pricing mechanism to control the production of milk.

- The secretary of agriculture would not have the authority to lower the milk support prices.

- The secretary would not be precluded from raising the support price on milk products if needed.

President Deiter concluded by saying the action by the dairy subcommittee falls short of what PFU believes is necessary to stabilize the dairy industry, but the action is certainly a big step in the right direction, according to the PFU.

They must now work closely with the full House Agriculture Committee and also concentrate on the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Aerotech Introduces Fans

DES MOINES, Iowa — A redesigned line of longer lasting, easy-to-install fan housings and discharge cones for swine ventilation systems has been introduced by Aerotech, Inc.

The improved housings are pre-drilled for faster mounting. Turned-out flanges allow an oversized shutter to be used for greater airflow and to create tighter interior wall seals. Fasteners are pre-assembled on the housings to make shutter installation and removal quick and easy, with no tools needed.

Aerotech's straight-wall housings are combined with discharge cones when durability and low cost are important. Straight housings are available with either a galvanized finish or, for corrosive applications, a bonded thermopolymer coating.

Tilt-wall housings mount fans at a downward angle for extra protection from snow and ice buildup. The through-the-wall section is straight for simplified installation.

Discharge cones, when coupled with fans, increase airflow by up to 15 percent per fan -- thus reducing the total fans needed without increasing energy costs.

Cones are pre-drilled and come with hardware for fast, simple installation on new or existing fans.

Both galvanized cones and thermopolymer bonded, galvanized cones are available for 36" to 48" fans. Plastic cones are available for 14", 18", and 24" fans.

Aerotech, Inc., Lansing, MI, markets a full line of ventilation products including fans, evaporative cooling systems, heaters and controls.

Concerned About Drinking Water? You Should Be

ALLENTOWN (Lehigh Co.) — Concerned about the quality of your drinking water? If you depend on your own well or spring, you should be.

The quality of water from a private supply is the responsibility of its owner, said Dr. William Sharpe, water resource specialist at Penn State University. If you don't test your water, no one else will.

Sharpe points out that The Safe Drinking Water Act establishes standards for water quality. If water doesn't meet those standards, it can cause health problems for those who drink it. As an example, he notes that water with high levels of lead can retard the mental development of children.

To be sure your water is safe to drink, you should have it tested periodically at a certified water testing laboratory. Sharpe recommends that water be tested for bacteria and nitrates at least once a year and for other chemicals at least every three years.

In addition to potential health problems, poor quality water can have other negative effects. Water contaminated with iron can cause staining problems, and water with a low pH can corrode pipes.

On Thursday, April 19, Lehigh Valley residents will have an opportunity to learn about managing their water supplies. Dr. Sharpe and other water quality experts will speak and be available for consultation at two "Safe Drinking Water Clinics" to be held at the UGI Hospitality Hall, 2121 City Line Road, Bethlehem.

The clinics are free and advanced registration is not needed. Lehigh Valley Laboratories, Inc., will make water tests for bacteria available to clinic participants at reduced rates. Penn State, as part of a survey, will offer lead and nitrate tests for $10 per sample.

Tractor Has Glideshift Transmission

COMPTON, Calif.—Kubota Tractor Corporation recently introduced the L3650GST, a 4WD tractor with glideshift transmission (GST).

The GST allows for easy shifting through eight forward and reverse speeds without using the clutch. The GST works to reduce engine and clutch stress and lessen operator fatigue.

The L3650GST diesel tractor, with 33 PTO horsepower, is designed for easy operation and peak performance for many different types of work, including light construction, grounds maintenance, and agricultural applications found on dairies, orchards, and vineyards.

With the glideshift transmission, shifting can be done without clutching, making it easier, with only one hand and one motion needed. The driver sets the shuttle shift lever to forward or reverse for directional changes, or adjusts the main gear shift to change the speed.

With no clutching or pedal operation and a strong main hydraulic system, the L3650GST is custom-made for front loader work. With glideshift transmission, frequent forward and backward movement can be accomplished swiftly, reducing cycle time, operator fatigue, and clutch wear and tear.

In addition to front loaders, implements available include a rotary tiller, backhoe, rotary cutter, post hole digger, and snowblower. Standard features include power steering, a live single-speed rear PTO, and the Easy Checker™ panel for increased performance and operator ease.

For more information about Kubota products, contact Kubota Tractor Corporation, 550 West Artesia Boulevard, Compton, CA 90220.

Special Pesticide Training Meeting Set

BIGLERVILLE (Adams Co.)—Pennsylvania-licensed commercial/public pesticide applicators are urged to attend a special training meeting to be held April 19 at the Penn State Fruit Research Laboratory.

Franklin County agent John Shearer said that the purpose of the meeting is to brief the licensees in the details needed for compliance with the new pesticide law. Major topics to be reviewed by Dave Thompson, Pennsylvania pesticide inspector, will include prior notification, technicians' permits, the new business licenses, vehicle lettering, record-keeping requirements, and some of the new commercial/public categories of licenses.

The session will start at 8:45 a.m. and end at 12:30 p.m. A $2 registration fee will be collected at the door. Additional details are available by calling 263-9226. Attendance at the meeting will supply four core credits.

A second meeting for those licensed in household pest control and fumigation will be held April 24 at the Cumberland County Cooperative Extension office in Carlisle on April 24. John Irwin, Industrial Fumigants, Mechanicsburg, and pesticide inspector Thompson will serve as instructors. This session also will start at 8:45 a.m. and end at 12:30 p.m. A $2 registration fee will be collected at the door. Attendance at the session will provide two category 11 credits, two category 13 credits, and two core credits.

Hardy Corn Excels In Trials

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — Hardy Brand corn varieties performed exceedingly well in New York trials, according to Frank Welch, director of marketing.

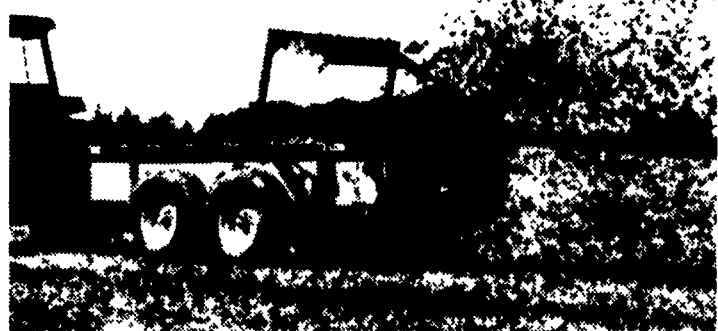

The yield information is published in the latest edition of Cornell University's Modern Corn Varieties for the 1989 trials.

Hardy Brand 175XS tied for the highest yielding hybrid in the early trials, with an average yield of 162 bushels/acre. Hardy's HB6917 was also an outstanding yielder, with an average of 152 bushels/acre.

Hardy Brand's overall average in the early trials surpassed the competition, coming in at 151.5 bushels/acre. Additionally, Hardy Brand corn varieties led the field when comparing average yields for all hybrids, including early, medium early, and medium trials. Hardy's 11 hybrids averaged out at 160.1 bushels/acre.

Gypsy Moths Increase

WARREN (Warren Co.) — Gypsy moth activity and damage will be worse in 1990 in Warren and Forest counties than it was last year, if predictions are correct.

At least this is what Mike Blumenthal, forest pest management specialist with the Pennsylvania Bureau of Forestry, reported to a recent gathering of foresters and forest industry personnel in Brookville.

Blumenthal reported on what many in the audience already knew from observation in the woods — larval numbers and damage were way down in 1989 due to a collapse of the larval populations at the beginning of the summer.

But this year's egg mass counts are high, and Blumenthal predicts that populations will be on the increase in Forest County and southern Warren County. There could be some areas of "light to moderate defoliation" in these counties reported, reported Blumenthal. In addition, the forest around the Allegheny reservoir will probably be affected as well.

Charles Thopson, service forester with the bureau in Warren, reports that he doesn't expect much defoliation at all this year, though there may be some "bad spots." Thopson believes that populations are on the rise and may be a problem again in 1991 or 1992.

Erie County once again seems to be spared from the headache of "the worm," said Sanford Smith, cooperative extension agent, who works in Warren, Forest, and Erie counties. This is because of the naturally low percentage of oak in Erie's forest stands.

Smith said, "What should one do if they suspect that their woodland is going to be ravaged by hungry Gypsy moth larva?"

There are two options. One, do nothing and suffer the consequences. Two, if you have a potential timber crop that you wish to protect, you may want to have your property sprayed.

The best bet for spraying is to contact one of the local consulting forestry firms and see if they are planning to spray a client's property in the vicinity. Often, a neighbor will be having their property sprayed, and this can make the operation less expensive.

But woodland owners will have to act early, said Smith. Spray season starts in May.

Cheshire Pony Club Wins E. Knowdown

UNIONVILLE (Chester Co.) — Cheshire Foxhounds Pony Club sent three teams to Danville on March 11 to compete in an academic competition called "KNOWDOWN."

Each of the 33 Eastern Pennsylvania region pony club teams answered 40 questions on conformation, horse sports, stable management, horsemanship, and veterinary knowledge in the morning qualifying rounds.

Stiff competition resulted in our senior "C" team finishing in a tie for first with the Five Mountains/Rose Tree team, with 380 points out of 400; each missing only two 10-point questions.

The Cheshire team included Karen Provinski and Jennifer Hill from Unionville High School and Jennifer Bleiler from Christian Academy of Media. To break the tie, captains Provinski and Meredith Narcum, Five Mountains, answered nine questions simultaneously by holding up either a true or false card.

The afternoon final round offered extremely close competition between Cheshire and Five Mountains/Rose Tree Senior "C" teams. With both teams running neck and neck, Jennifer Hill of Cheshire answered the final C-2 question correctly, winning Eastern Pennsylvania Knowdown First Place Medals and the High Point Plaque of the Day for the Cheshire Foxhounds Pony Club for the second consecutive year!

Outstanding were Jennifer Hill of Cheshire and Rachel Surkin of Rose Tree who each answered all their questions correctly for the entire day. Last year, four of these same girls joined together on a Senior "C" scratch team to win First in Eastern Pennsylvania Region and then placed ninth out of 16 teams at the 1989 National Knowdown. They were Captain Meredith Narcum and Darlene Phillips of Black Diamond and Karen Provinski and Melissa Williams of Cheshire.

Melissa Williams of Scott High was captain of the Cheshire Junior "C" team along with Kelly Ruby, Scott High, and Matthew Provinski of Unionville Middle School. This team of 12-14 yr. olds won the morning Junior "C" qualifying rounds by 70 points. The final Junior "C" competition in the afternoon resulted in Keystone/Rose Tree first, Cheshire second, and our newest club, Abbington Hunt third.

Cheshire's youngest members did an excellent job, placing sixth out of 15 teams in the morning qualifying rounds for Junior "D" teams. This team was comprised of Captain Amanda Williams of East Fallowfield Elementary, Christopher Armstrong of Avon Grove Elementary, Michelle Clark of Sacred Heart Academy of Bryn Mawr, and Katie Hall of Tower Hill Elementary.

ICM Program Benefits Farmers

NAZARETH (Northampton Co.) — "New A.S.C.S. integrated crop management practices deserves your attention," said Greg Solt, county agent.

A.S.C.S. will pay up to $7.00 per year per acre for participating farmers to have a trained independent agronomist visit farms every 7 to 10 days. During these visits the agronomist will soil test, identify weed, insect and disease problems, design a soil nutrient plan, do yield checks and plant population counts, make pesticide recommendations, and more.

"This program has great potential," said Solt. One problem with the program is the late spring announcement. Time is short and farmers are at the beginning of their busiest time of the year.

"The bottom line is, after 10 years experience in Pennsylvania, I.C.M. has returned up to $60 per acre extra profit due to lower input costs and higher yields."

To get the information out about these programs, the A.S.C.S. offices of Lehigh and Northampton counties have reserved the UGI auditorium in the LVIP by the ABE Airport. On April 16 at 7:30 p.m. they will describe the program. "You'll learn how to apply, what it will cost, what the service involves, and other information you'll need to decide," said Solt.

Chester Ag Preservation Seeks Applicants

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.)— The Chester County Agricultural Land Preservation Board is seeking additional applicants for the agricultural conservation easement program.

The next deadline for applications is May 1, 1990. Landowners eligible are those who have voluntarily enrolled their farmland in one of Chester County's 25 agricultural security areas, which encompass approximately 57,000 acres.

Landowners who wish to sell conservation easements (development rights) must submit an application form to the Agricultural Land Preservation Board. Seven farmers applied for sale of conservation easements on 600 acres in the first round of the program last November.

Ray Pickering, director of the Land Preservation Board, commented that "we have been pleased so far with the level of landowner interest in preserving farmland."

He indicated that farm owners interested in the program should contact his office for assistance with the required form and locational maps.

Funding for the easement program is a combination of state and county dollars. For the first two rounds of the program, Chester County received $4.4 million in state funds, the second highest amount of all participating counties. Combined with $800,000 in county allocations, Chester County has $5.2 million now available for easement purchases.

For further information and assistance with the conservation easement program, landowners are encouraged to contact Ray Pickering at 344-6285. His office is located on the first floor of the Paul Dague Agricultural and Natural Resources Center, 235 West Market St., West Chester.

Black shank and blue mold are two of the biggest enemies a leaf of burley or flue-cured can have. And on a cost-per-acre basis, nothing protects tobacco plants from these diseases like Ridomil®.

Just one application (at labelled rates) in the field before transplanting fights black shank, blue mold and Pythium all season long.

Ridomil stops disease on contact in the soil. Then its systemic action allows it to be absorbed into the plant through the roots, keeping it safe from disease. You get a healthier plant, higher quality tobacco.

So this season, use Ridomil. Before a few of tobacco's biggest enemies beat your bottom line black and blue.

If you want to know more about Ridomil, call Furney Todd any Monday on the Monday Hotline, sponsored by CIBA-GEIGY. 1-800-862-2229.

feeding

Satisfied CABLEVEY Customers Chose CABLEVEY Over Other Barn Feeders Because:

- 1.) CABLEVEY Measures Feed By Weight - No other barn feeder on the market actually weighs the amount of feed delivered to each cow.
- 2.) CABLEVEY Saves Energy - 1 motor and 1 system handle many livestock operations.
- 3.) CABLEVEY Reduces Feed Separation - Unlike flex augers, feed separation is minimal - that means a more uniform ration to all cows.
- 4.) CABLEVEY Keeps Feed Fresh - "Trip After Fill" operation means no feed is delivered to the drops until feeding time.
- 5.) CABLEVEY Takes the Corners - Specially designed 90° corners allow efficient system operation for any barn layout.
- 6.) CABLEVEY Installs Easily - No need for installing steel beam track to support heavy feed hopper loads.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — Chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs) — chemicals commonly present in refrigerants, industrial cleansers, and aerosols — escape and slowly rise to that portion of the earth's atmosphere known as the stratosphere.

As CFCs are degraded by sunlight, the resulting chemicals react with and deplete the ozone layer that absorbs harmful ultraviolet (UV) radiation from the sun.

The burning by Earth's occupants of fossil fuels for energy releases carbon dioxide and other "greenhouse" gases. These gases are believed to trap excess heat radiated from the Earth's surface, leading to global warming.

Debate continues nationally as to the speed and extent of these global threats. But how will global warming, or the destruction of Earth's natural ozone "sun-screens," affect the plants that support human existence?

A 40 percent depletion in the earth's protective ozone layer would decrease the yield of usable pulpwood from loblolly pines by 30 percent, said Dr. Joseph Sullivan, researcher at the University of Maryland. Sullivan uses suspended sun lamps to simulate the increased ultraviolet radiation reaching the earth's surface because of ozone depletion. Loblolly pines supply two-thirds of U.S. wood pulp. Photo by Norman E. Pruitt, Maryland Agriculture Experiment Station.

Ozone layer depletion will have significant effects on plant life, according to Dr. Alan Teramura at the University of Maryland. Teramura's greenhouse and field tests indicate that a 40 percent decrease in ozone, and the resultant increase in ultraviolet radiation, would decrease the pulpwood available from loblolly pines by 30 percent. 1990 BARN PAINTING Latest Developments

- PREPARATION - High volume water blasting at 1,000 lb. pressure re-surfaces barn siding into a smooth (like new) appearance!
 - Performed by professionals quickly at reasonable cost.
 - By yourself with your own or rented equipment.
 - Or other more conventional methods.
- APPLICATION - To insure better adherence to this super prepared surface, use the best fine bristle brush in four directions to evenly distribute the recommended mil thickness of seal coat coverage.
- SPECIALIZATION - Every barn is different but generally it's best to use a high quality mildew resistant product, specially formulated to meet the requirements of this partially weathered wood that was and will be weather stressed.
- WARNING - The modified oil latex is less effective as a wood preserver and actually increases nail & metal deterioration. Deal with home people. At their rates, I could double mine.

REMEMBER - THIS IS A NIGHT SALE - 7:30 P.M.

24 months from now you'll be mighty glad she got Purina Calf Startena today.

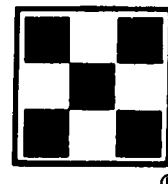

Proper nutrition during the first 60 days builds milking capability for a lifetime. With early nutrition so critical it's no wonder that Purina Calf Startena is the dry feed of choice on thousands of the country's best-managed dairy farms. Purina Calf Startena has the irresistible taste that encourages calves to begin eating at an early age. It has the balanced nutrition that increases weight gains...easy digestibility necessary to avoid problems in an immature rumen... and dependable scours protection.

Remember, important profit potential is being created — or lost — every day of a dairy heifer's life. That's a mighty big responsibility for a calf starter — but Purina Calf Startena is fully capable of meeting the challenge.

Purina Calf Startena features

- Balanced protein-energy builds muscle and strong frames - not fat.
- Low crude fiber (not more than 8%) for more concentrated nutrition and high palatability.
- Fortified with essential vitamins and minerals.
- Antibiotic protection against scours.

For best results, make sure you feed Purina Calf Startena along with genuine Purina Nurse Chow® milk replacer for the first 30 days
